MAHATMA TO MAKE EARNEST EFFORT FOR SETTLEMENT?

Out Of The Gloaming.

"Indian Hemp—Binding the Empire together" are the two captions given to a learned treatise on 'Sisal" issued by H. M.'s Station Office, London. Rather depressing, that hemp should tie India to the chariot of the British Empire!

* * * *

But the world depression has no doubt told on all, even on the glorious British Empire. Formerly they were golden links in the chains, according to the stock orators. Now that they've removed the gold, hemp is more appropriate.

* * * *

We don't know what Alwar, who loved to dilate on the golden link, thinks of the idea of binding the Empire together with a hemp noose, which is used for other less or more glorious purposes. But he has gone, too, and protest is useless.

* * * *

Bruening has dissolved himself and his party and is now appearing in his new and real 'avatar' as a full-fledged Nazi. It is not for nothing that the Catholics have committed 'harikari'. Their property is to be returned to them!

* * * *

Bruening must have been faced with a "fait accompli" from Rome. Religions are generally based on the fundamental rights of property, and property is a solvent of all evils—worldly and otherworldly. Sort of new version of old "indulgences" in which priests did a roaring trade!

* * * *

Simla is getting awfully frivolous despite Lord and Lady Willingdon's moral influence! There was a debate on co-education, and Dr. Parmanand said, "when God created woman from the rib of man, He had no rest afterwards, neither had man." Very complimentary to women, no doubt, but is man down-hearted? No!

* * * *

But Simla is not without a champion of downtrodden man after all. Mr. Raizada wanted to place women on a "higher pedestal," despite India being "enslaved and enchained." There was to be equitable division of work,—men to work and women to produce children.

* * * *

Fine! It means fullest co-operation. Perhaps the local Co-operative Institute might be able to help in a solution of the knotty problem.

* * * *

The greatest supporter of co-education was a Miss Jamuna Lele, who eloquently pleaded for the removal of misunderstandings between boys and girls! Have you ever heard of them?

* * * *

As a result of co-education, said the fair Jamuna, "boys will come to know womanhood which they don't appreciate properly etc." This is a columny on modern Youth and the average college boy which ought not to be borne in silence. Forward the Indian Youth!

* * * *

Mr. Gopalan quoted figures,—must be representing Madras in the Finance Department! The Chairman very appropriately referred to the new world in the making—after much co-education—and greater India which was being evolved as a result. Simla ultimately refused to co-educate—result of sinister reactionary influences all round!

* * * *

Mr. Sastri suggests the erection of statues to Montagu in every town in gratitude for the reforms. It is time somebody made a similar suggestion in commemoration of Sir Samuel Hoare with the blank paper in his hand for the Die-Hards to write anything they like on it.

"Socks? Yes, sir," said the shop assistant in reply to the customer's request.

Presently he placed a number of laden boxes in front of him.

Here you are, sir," he said briskly. "wonderful value. Worth double the money. Latest patterns, fast colours, hole-proof, won't shrink, and it's a good yarn."

The customer nodded, a little dazed.

"Yes," he said, "and very well told, too."

READY FOR PEACE WITH HONOUR?

To Address Conference On Second Day

DAILY TALKS WITH ANEY AND "C. R.": 300 PERSONS INVITED

POONA, July 7.

Considerable interest has been roused in Poona in the forthcoming conference of Congress leaders, the first conference on such a scale to be held here since 1920.

A Reception Committee consisting of local Congressmen has been formed for looking to the comforts of the participants, who are expected to number about 200, though invitations have been issued to nearly a 100 more. A small volunteer corps will also be formed.

CONFERENCE TO LAST 2 DAYS

As the conference is an informal one, the members will pay their own board and lodging. It is expected to last two days at the outside. Commencing from 2 p.m. on 12th July, the first day's session may last till nightfall, when members will adjourn till 1 p.m. next day.

Admission will be strictly restricted to those invited. No resolutions will be placed before the meeting. On the first day representative opinion will be invited on the present situation with particular reference to the question, whether there should be a change of Congress policy and, if so, what programme should replace the present one.

MAHATMA TO ADDRESS CONFERENCE

Gandhiji is expected to address the Conference on the second day. He is in the meantime daily conferring with Messrs. Aney and Rajagopalachari.

The trend of these conferences is kept a close secret, but it is reliably learnt that Gandhiji is in favour of an earnest effort being made to arrive at a settlement with Government, and that for this purpose he is willing to make any sacrifice which will not injure the national cause.

Dr. Ansari And Mr. Asaf Ali Invited From Delhi

NEW DELHI, July 7.

DELAY MEANS DISASTER

If Reforms Are Postponed Congress Will Revive Its Activities

PIONEER'S CANARD

Federal Assembly Will Function In 1936, Assures Simla

(From Our Correspondent)

SIMLA, July 7.

"It is nothing short of wild statement" is how a high official characterised the story published by the "Pioneer" from its London correspondent suggesting that Provincial Autonomy and Federation would not take effect till 1940. The view in official quarters here is that it is natural that the proceedings of the Joint Select Committee which imply freedom of action on the part of that body should make Indian politicians feel that the question is being made once again reopened, but emphasis is laid here on the point that it is the inherent right of such committee to take up that role and that the suggestion that the British Government was going back on its previous pledges and programme was entirely unjustified.

Officials here assure me that they see no reason why the India Act should not be passed by May 1934 and that Provincial Councils should come into being by the spring of 1935 and the Central Assembly by the beginning of 1936.

It is held that the statement made in London on behalf of the Maharaja of Patiala is more or less in accordance with the calculations made in Simla, namely, that about a year should be enough to negotiate and carry out the treaties of accession, so that the Federal Assembly should begin to function in 1936.

DISASTROUS IN INDIA

Authorities here declare that British Government could not ever conceive of such delay as suggested in the report as the effect of that would be disastrous in India as it would in a twinkle of the eye revive Congress activities and leave no friend of Government in India among any class or community. They feel the only way they have been able to fight the Congress was by proving that reforms would shortly be a reality and that only those who wish to loose India would ever be a party to the plan of the kind suggested by the London correspondent of the Allahabad paper.

HEARD TRUE VOICE OF GOD

Mahatma Explains Origin Of 21 Days' Fast

VOICE WAS NOT ECHO OF HEATED IMAGINATION BUT WAS REALLY HEARD

POONA, July 7.

Under the caption "All about the Fast." Gandhiji writes in the "Harijan":—

"It is perhaps meet that the very first writing for the press I shoud attempt after the fast should be for 'The Harijan,' and that in connection with the fast. God willing, I hope now to contribute my weekly quota to 'The Harijan' as before the fast. Let none, however, run away with the idea that I have regained my pre-fast capacity for work. I have still to be very careful how I work. Correspondents will, therefore, have mercy on me. Whatever they may have for my special attention will have still to wait for some time, probably yet another month.

VOICE OF GOD.

Now for the fast. The first question that has puzzled many is about the voice of God. For me the voice of God, of conscience, of truth, or the inner voice or the still small voice mean one and the same thing. I saw no form. I have never tried, for I have always believed God to be without form. But what I did hear was like a voice from afar and yet quite near. It was as unmistakable as some human voice definitely speaking to me and irresistible.

TERRIFIC STRUGGLE.

I was not dreaming when I heard the voice. It was preceded by a terrific struggle within me. Suddenly the voice came upon me. I listened and was certain that it was the voice, and the struggle ceased. I was calm. Determination was made accordingly and the date and hour of the fast were fixed. Joy came over me and I felt refreshed.

Could I give further evidence that it was truly the voice I heard, and not the echo of my imagination? I have no further evidence to convince the sceptic. He is free to say it is all self-delusion or hallucination. It may well have been so. I can offer no proof to the contrary.

"HEARD TRUE VOICE OF GOD."

But, I can say this that not the unanimous verdict of the whole world against me could make me from the belief that what I heard was the true voice of God.

And everyone who wills can hear the voice. It is within everyone, but like everything else it requires previous, definite preparation.

The second question that has puzzled many is whether the fast in which an army of doctors watch and guide the fasting person—as they undoubtedly and with extraordinary care did in my case—could be described as a fast in answer to the call of the inner voice.

BATTLING AGAINST DEATH.

Put thus, the objection seems valid. It would undoubtedly have been more in keeping with the claim made for the fast. If it had not been attended with all the extraordinary external aids that it was my good fortune or misfortune to receive. But I do not repent, having gratefully accepted the generous help that kind friends extended to me. I was battling against death, and I accepted all the help that came to me as God-sent, when it did not affect my vow."

"INDESCRIBABLE PEACE."

Proceeding, Gandhiji describes his state of mind during that fast, as one of "indescribable peace even more than during the previous fasts." Perhaps the reason was that there was nothing tangible to expect from this fast. He had, therefore, withdrawn within himself.

Gandhiji continues: "The fast was an uninterrupted 21 days' prayer, whose effect, I can feel even now. I knew more fully than ever that there is no prayer without fasting, be the latter ever so little. And this fasting relates not merely to the palate, but to all the senses and and organs.

YEARNING OF SOUL.

Complete absorption in prayer must mean complete exclusion of physical activities till prayer possesses the whole of our being, and we rise superior to, and are completely detached from, all physical functions. That state can only be reached after continual voluntary Crucifixion of the flesh.

Fasting is the yearning of the soul to merge in the divine essence. My last fast was intended to be as much a preparation.

How far I succeeded, how far I am in Tune with the Infinite, I do not know, but I know that the fast has made the passion for such a state intenser than ever".

GOOD RESULTS OF FAST

Continuing, Gandhiji says that the fast has led to greater purification among workers, as the letters he has received have shown. Nothing probably could have brought home to workers so well as this fast the fact that the movement is purely religious in the highest sense of the term, to be handled in a religious spirit, by workers of character above reproach. The removal of untouchability is not merely a social and economic reform but that could be measured by so much social amenities of economic relief provided few Harijans.

APPEAL TO HIGHEST IN MAN

Its goal is to touch the hearts of millions of Hindus who believed that the present-day untouchability is a God-made institution. This can be brought about only

LEADING TO CONTENTED INDIA

Sir C. Innes' View On White Paper Before "Joint"

CHANGE SUGGESTED

Tribute To Indian Members Of Viceroy's Council

By Sir C. Innes

LONDON, July 7.

Evidence in support of the White Paper, as administrator with the experience of India both before War and since the Reforms was given before the Select Committee yesterday, by Sir Charles Innes, who handed in a memorandum stressing change in the mental outlook of educated classes in recent years and the growth of political consciousness.

Sir C. Innes expressed the opinion that if proposals such as Sir M. O'Dwyer were substituted for the White Paper they would be bitterly opposed and resented.

LEADING TO CONTENTED INDIA

Sir C. Innes in his evidence gave the considered opinion that the White Paper on the whole was likely to lead to a contented India, and would be accepted by the great mass of educated opinion. Most Indians would try to work it honestly and well.

He made it clear that he regarded the White Paper as a step towards Responsible Self-Government, but entirely opposed fixing of the time limit for the transitional period. He did not believe it possible to dispense with any safeguards without brave risks.

Sir Abdur Rahim asked if the next step would be the elimination of safeguards.

Sir C. Innes said that the next step would be that safeguards would by disuse fall into disuetude.

Sir T. B. Sapru inquired if the White Paper endangered the interests of masses.

TRIBUTE TO M.L.As

Sir C. Innes thought that on the balance advantages were decidedly in favour of the White Paper, and added that according to his experience members of the Assembly were sincerely interested in masses, and took a reasoned view of labour questions.

CHANGE IN W. P. SUGGESTED

Sir C. Innes suggested one change in the White Paper. He pointed out that there was no safeguard relating to the financial stability of provinces, and urged that provision should be made for a provincial finance department with the right of access to the Governor. He was of opinion that the department must be consulted on all matters relating to finance.

The Archbishop of Canterbury referred to Sir C. Innes' claim that almost all high administrators who had retired in recent years supported his views, and asked if it was true to say that was due to the influence, direct or indirect, of the knowledge that the British Government was interesting itself in these matters.

Sir Innes: "As far as I know it is entirely untrue."

INNES' TRIBUTE TO INDIAN COUNCILLORS

Lord Reading asked: "Would you agree that Indian members of the Viceroy's Council in your time were thoroughly loyal?"

Sir C. Innes entirely agreed, and said they were efficient and took their full responsibility in the decisions.

Sir T. B. Sapru later referred to the same point, and asked Sir C. Innes' experience of Indian officers serving under him.

Sir C. Innes said it was excellent, and added they were perfectly loyal and kept the confidence.

Sir T. B. Sapru: "It has been said here in very important quarters that Indians cannot kept secrets. What is your opinion?"

Sir C. Innes: "I do not know, but I used to hear stories now

Collapse In Cotton And Sensational Drop In Dollar

(From Our Commercial Correspondent)

BOMBAY, July 7. (11 p.m.)

Gilt-edged securities ruled quiet but steady, to-day, on the London Stock Exchange.

3 1/2 p.c. Indian Sterling loan was quoted unchanged at £78 3/4

There were violent fluctuations in the dollar-sterling cross rate. It is for the first time that after Great Britain abandoned the Gold standard, dollar declined to 4.73 to-day but at the opening the cross rate was 4.59, and rapidly fluctuated; ultimately it became steady at 4.73

This rapid decline in dollar was expected to result in a sharp rise in the New York cotton prices. But poor response of 12 points advance at the opening of New York induced heavy long liquidation, resulting in a decline of 24 points from the opening level of prices.

LIVERPOOL MARKET

The Liverpool market opened to-day at a rise of 9 points. The market was steady and at one time, prices were quoted 14 points higher. In the afternoon, weak New York advices created considerable nervousness, followed by drastic liquidation, and prices collapsed. The market closed at a decline of 16 points.

In the local cotton market the clique of bear operators created a mild selling, at night. There were free sellers and there was no buyers for Broach April/May delivery at Rs. 227.

SILVER MARKET

The London silver market ruled quiet but uncertain. There was some American and Indian buying. The market closed as under:—

Spot Silver	18 5/16
Difference	— 1/8
Forward silver	18 7/16
Difference	— 1/8

Prices in the local market were as under:—

Ready Silver Rs. 56-2.
Ashad Rs. 56-2

C. I. D. INSPECTOR NARRATES BHAGATSING STORY IN COURT

Mr. Chowdhary Describes How Mrs. Sovani Identified Bhatkar At Lamington Road Police Station: Empire Theatre Bomb Case Revelations

Continuing his evidence on Friday before Mr. M. A. F. Coelho, Firth Presidency Magistrate, Dadar, concerning the case in which J. Bapat, Bhatkar and Hardikar stand charged under the Explosive Substances Act, Inspector Chowdhury of the Special Branch, C.I.D. Department said that when he took accused Bhatker to his residence on 21st April he also found in his room a book entitled "Ayee" (mother), a Marathi rendering of the original Russian book written by Maxim Gorkey. This book was put in as an exhibit.

The same day, in consequence of information given by Bhatker, the residence of Mr. Mangesh Pagnis was searched by witness in the presence of Bhatker who pointed out a pestle and mortar (Ex. P). During this search witness also took charge of a book entitled Jayakranti Devi (Long Live the Goddess of Revolution). He further took charge of a piece of paper containing the name of a book "High Explosives". When the Police Prosecutor tendered this book and the paper the defence counsel objected to its going in at this stage. Mr. Velkar, police prosecutor, then proposed calling Mr. Mangesh Pagnis as a prosecution witness.

There was considerable excitement when Mr. Gadkari objected to the panchnama of articles found in Pagnis's room going in as exhibits. The Panchnama in evidence was made on the discovery of certain things during the search and so it was no proof of the relevancy or otherwise of those articles (facts).

AT ARMS SHOP

Containing witness stated that on April 22 Mr. Bhatker took him and S I Parulekar to the arms and ammunition shop of M. Saleh and Company. There were two persons in the shop at the time. The accused had made a certain statement whilst nearing the shop as a result of which witness inquired of the two men whether there was anybody else employed in the shop, and was informed that Fazli Hussain was a salesman there but that he had gone out then. Witness instructed them to have Fazli Hussain at the shop on his return as he was required to identify some one.

IDENTIFICATION PARADE.

Next an identification parade was held at the Lamington Road Police station at which witness was present, and at which Mrs. Kamalabai Sowani identified Bhatkar as one of the two persons that bought Potassium chlorate from her shop on 25th March.

Answering a question from the court witness replied that no threat or inducement was held out to Mrs. Sowani at the identification parade. The accused was made to stand with seven others who were all Hindu under trial prisoners in their ordinary dress.

After the identification, witness continued, Bhatker was sent to Mahim Police Station with S. I. Parulekar while himself (witness) went to the Head Police Office.

Going to the shop of M. Saleh and Company on the same afternoon witness found the salesman Fazli Hussain there and took him to the Mahim Police Station.

Fazli Hussain identified Bhatker there as having bought bullets from his shop a month previously.

"RED" LEAFLET?

Next a leaflet was shown to witness which he said had been shown to him by S. I. Parulekar as having been recovered from accused Hardiker. The leaflet purported to have been issued by the Hindustan Republican Society in connection with the celebration of the second anniversary of the deaths of Bhagat Singh, Rajguru and Sukhdev.

WHO IS BHAGAT SINGH?

At this stage the counsel for the prosecution and the defence became engaged in a tough passage-at-arms. .....

Mr. Velkar: Who is this Bhagat Singh, the second anniversary of whose death was enjoined to be celebrated according to the leaflet? ....

Mr. Gadkari: I object to this question because we are not concerned with Bhagat Singh so far as the present case is concerned..

The court however ruled the question as relevant.

Witness answering said that Bhagat Singh was one of the founders of the H. R. Association and was convicted in the Assembly Bomb case and in connection with the Saunder's murder case was executed on 23rd March 1931. That was the man whose anniversary was celebrated on 23rd March 1933 (Mr. Gadkari here remarked that nothing happened on this day). On the completion of the investigations witness applied for and obtained sanction to prosecute the accused under Section 7 of Act 6 of 1908.

OTHER ARRESTS.

Here witness cross-examined by the defence counsel stated that the persons arrested by him in connection with the publication of the revolutionary leaflet and who were subsequently let off were Pathare, the Desai brothers, Purushottam Khair, Karnik and Bhendre. In the remand applications before the Chief Presidency Magistrate it had been stated that they were also connected with offences under the Explosive Substances Act though the case that was being investigated was in regard to the publication of revolutionary leaflets. During investigations in that case a thesis and chemicals had been found in Pathare's house at C. P. Tank bearing on Explosives which led the police to believe that these people might be concerned also with offences under the Explosive Substances Act. They were arrested in the first week of April. Revolutionary literature had been found with these people. They were discharged after the throwing of the second bomb at the Empire Theatre. .....

SAVARKAR'S ACTIVITIES.

Speaking about Savarkar witness said that since 1924 he has been at Shirgaon, in Ratnagiri District under restrictions. He is now concerned with the Harijan movement but witness could not say if that was the only thing he took part in Savarkar was convicted for "waging war against the King" and sentenced in 1910 for transportation, but was released in 1924 on certain conditions. Since then he has been in Ratnagiri. When witness acknowledged that he was not well-informed about Savarkar's activities if any after his release, Mr. Gadkari remarked that being in the C. I. D. he ought to know all that. .....

Regarding Mrs. Sovani witness said that he first saw her in this case on April 22. The cash memo had not been shown her by him but Rao Bahadur Desai had shown it to her on April 7.

According to his statement Mrs. Sovani was seated in witness's car in the Lamington Road Station compound, from where she could not see anyone. His car at that time was just near the Inspector's room. That the persons made to stand with Bhatker were undertrial prisoners and was learnt by him from her statement made on Wednesday.

Re-examined by Mr. Velkar witness replied that the men of the identification parade had been brought by a Havaldar. After the parade was set ready Mrs. Sovani was taken out of the car for identifying the accused, and after that sent out. After the first parade, Mrs. Sovani was in witness's car whilst the parade was being arranged. Mrs. Sovani had no hesitation in identifying the accused even though his position and headdress were changed on the two occasions

BLANK MEMO BOOK.

At this stage Fazli Hussein, the salesman of M. Saleh and Co., was called in by Mr. Gadkari to submit his books. There was laughter in court when he handed his cash memo book to the defence counsel who on examining it remarked that the witness had produced a blank memo book. .. ..

Further hearing will be resumed on Saturday (to-day).

At the opening of the University Conference, Poona, on Friday, His Excellency the Governor of Bombay in the course of his address said:—

You have been called here today to discuss and to advise Government on some of the fundamental questions of higher education of the University standard in this Presidency. In dealing with the affairs of the Bombay University that come before me as its Chancellor, I have recently become increasingly aware of the magnitude of the burden which it is carrying, and I have asked myself whether it is not possible that the University is becoming unwieldy and whether the time is not approaching when it ought to be relieved of some portion of its present great responsibilities. In raising this question you must not suppose that I am implying any criticism on the manner in which the University at present discharges its functions. I am looking rather to the actual statistics of the developments of the work of the University and wondering whether it is humanly possible under present conditions for a single organisation to continue to carry out efficiently the duties for which it was constituted.

REALLY UNWIELDY.

The Committee on University Reform in 1925, while noting the growth in the number of candidates appearing at the Bombay examination in 1924, remarked that only in the case of the Matriculation examination could the number be said to be already really unwieldy. In that year the number of Matriculation candidates was 7,492. In 1932 this number had increased to 15,477. Similarly I see that the number in the first year Arts examination, taking the same years as the basis of comparison, has increased from 3,636 to 5,201; the Intermediate Arts and Science examination from 2,613 to 3,402; the B.A. from 873 to 1,411; the B.Sc. from 177 to 446; the B.Com. from 48 to 204; the B.T. from 60 to 114; the B.Ag. from 68 to 138; the LL.B. from 332 to 881; the M.B.B.S. from 308 to 427; and the B.E. from 76 to 147.

STARTLING FIGURES.

Taking all the examinations of the University together, but excluding the Matriculation, there has been an increase from 8,181 to 12,371. In other words, in eight years the number of examinees has increased by over 50 per cent. These are startling figures, and I see no reason to suppose that the rate of increase is likely to diminish in the near future. It seems to me that these facts compel us to address ourselves to a review of the situation and challenge the inquiry whether in all respects the existing University is able to meet the strain that is being placed upon it. The great majority of you, Gentlemen, are prominent members of various University authorities, and your advice, based on your wide experience of the problems of higher education, will be of the utmost service to Government in the consideration of this question.

ADDITIONAL UNIVERSITY?

A suggestion that has recently been put before me is that the time has arrived when the establishment of an additional University in this Presidency has become necessary. This is a proposal that was very carefully considered by the University Reform Committee, who came to the conclusion that it would be in the interest of the development of higher education that new Universities should be created in the principal natural divisions of the Presidency, namely, Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnatak and Sind, when conditions at those centres were ripe for such a step. You will not, Gentlemen, expect me at this stage to express any opinion on this point. It is one of the questions on which we desire your advice and guidance. But I may be allowed to direct your attention to some aspects of the problem which are not always fully borne in mind. You are aware that the University Reform Committee, in discussing the arguments against additional Universities, referred to the objection that "local and linguistic Universities will be provincial in the worst sense of that term, narrow in outlook and governed by racial, commercial or linguistic prejudices to an extent that is not possible in a cosmopolitan University like Bombay. Instead of proving strongholds of national culture and national unity such Universities may become centres of disruptive forces, centrifugal if we regard India as a whole".

CONSEQUENCES MUST BE FACED.

In that passage the Committee laid its finger on one of the vital perils of the policy on which the advocates of additional universities wish us to embark. The conditions in this Presidency are in many ways peculiar, and I am sure you will agree that it is in the interest of all the regions which constitute this Presidency that we should not take any step that may break up the basis on which they at present cohere. Without desiring to question the view that additional universities on a regional basis may ultimately be found necessary, I urge you to face frankly all the possible consequences of such a policy.

FINANCIAL PROBLEM.

The question whether it is possible to take immediate steps to constitute another University will need very careful consideration in its practical aspect. It is essential that if a University is to be constituted it must adequately financed. It must be a University which when set up will command the respect of India and of the outside world by the qualifications, achievements and character of its teachers. Adequate salaries must be provided for the staff. A University must be suitably housed and equipped As you know, the Presidency is passing through a period of great financial difficulty and this is not a time when Government can afford to make grants-in-aid to projects of this nature.

10 LAKHS CAPITAL WANTED.

The University Reform Committee, in discussing the circumstances of Poona and the possibility of a Maharashtra University, suggested that it might be started if a capital sum of Rs. 10 lakhs and an annual expenditure of Rs. 2-1/2 lakhs are provided for. But they anticipated also that, as the University grew, considerable additional expenditure would be unavoidable. I may remind you that the foundation of several of the new Universities has been assisted, and indeed rendered possible, by large contributions from private benefactors. There are few objects more deserving of private generosity than the provision of facilities for higher education. There can be no doubt that it will be a long and laborious process to collect the necessary finance, and I can hold out little hope that Government will be able in present conditions to come to the assistance of the promoters.

The third point that requires close study in connection with the formation of the new University is its relation with the existing University of Bombay. Our object is not to cripple but to assist and strengthen the University of Bombay, and it is therefore essential that the two Universities should work in close co-operation and that their fields of work should be so defined that they will find no difficulty in working in with each other. I should like you to discuss the safeguards or conditions which will best conduce to this object.

APPEAL TO DELEGATES.

After discussing the problem in all its bearings, including those aspects to which I have just drawn attention, it is possible that opinion may declare itself against the policy of establishing additional universities at present. In that event we are still faced with the problems raised by the statistics which I quoted to you a short time ago. Has a point been reached when the University of Bombay is entitled to be relieved of some part of its present burden? and if so can you put forward any suggestions that are likely to prove helpful? I realise that such questions raise far-reaching and controversial issues, but I should attach great value to your opinions on this point since you speak with the authority of first hand experience. I know that you are all loyal to your own University and that you will recommend nothing which in your opinion might injure its work or its standing. As its Chancellor I, too, am jealous for its reputation and privileges, and do not intend to sanction any step unless I am fully assured that its ultimate effect will be both in the interests of higher education generally in the Presidency and of the University of Bombay itself.

TRANSFER OF BADRINATH

Mass Meeting Approves Tehri Darbar As Protector Of Temple And Town

Among the four principal Hindoo Pilgrimage-temples on the four extremeties of India, The Temple of Bardinath in the Himalayas is the most sacred and important. Hardy and zealous pilgrims, not regarding the hardships of rain, snow and bitterly cool weather, come here by thousand, walking about 400 miles on foot. The Head Worshipper of the Temple is called Rawal-Saheb, who is also the financial head of the temples. The income is said to be more than a lakh of Rupees every year.

The work of worship goes on so loosely and the gates opened so late and closed so early only twice a day, that out of a large crowd of pilgrims, a number of weak and especially poor ones, have to go away without a darshana.

Even the funds of the temple are not properly looked after, and much money is uselessly wasted.

MISMANAGED PROPERTY

Since ancient times, this Temple was under the supervision of the Tehri State. Even now the temple appropriates the revenue of several villages gifted by the state; but the town of Badrinath, having come into the possession of the British (Indian) Government, Tehri Rulers cannot property control the employees of the Temple. The Tehri Rulers some years ago resigned their supervising function, and the Rawal Saheb and his staff became free from any kind of control, with the result that thousands of rupees gifted by devoted pilgrims are squandered away.

As the temple opens "too late" every day, and closes "too early," a number of poor pilgrims are kept waiting for hours together in the pouring rain and biting cold in the open space before the gate, because the interior of the temple is so narrow that not more than 25 to 30 men are allowed entry at a time.

TRANSFER FAVOURED.

This unhappy state of affairs was brought to the notice of both the "U. P. Government" and the "Tehri Durbar," and the latter has agreed to resume supervision on condition that the "town of Badrinath" is handed over with the Temple.

The U. P. Government wanted to know whether the general Hindoo public were agreeable to the transfer to the Tehri Durbar, and also the inhabitants of Badrinath.

The pilgrims and the townpeople have always expressed their willingness for the transfer, and on Tuesday 27th June a large mass-meeting composed of the pilgrims from all parts of India as well as the inhabitants of the town was convened by Panda Ramprasad Girjashanker Koyal at a public Dharamsala.

The Meeting was presided over by Mr. Narottam Jethabhai Narmani of Matunga, Bombay, a writer on religious and social topics, and a member of the orthodox section of the Bhatia community, and who is staying at Badrinath on his way to the Kailas and Mansarovar.

The meeting unanimously agreed to the transfer of and a resolution to the effect was unanimously passed and a telegram to Governor U. P. was sent.

UNSYMPATHETIC RLY. ADMINISTRATION

Mr. J. M. Mehta Presides Over G. I. P. R. Accounts' Staff Union Meeting

The annual general meeting of the G. I. P. Railway Accounts Union was held on Saturday the 1st inst. in the Accounts Office Tiffin Rooms, Mr. Jamnadas Mehta presiding. About two hundred members were present.

Mr. Mehta in his presidential address referred to the various activities of the Union during the year and said that the progress and working of the Union was very encouraging. The Managing Committee, he said, deserved to be congratulated on the useful work done.

UNSYMPATHETIC AGENT.

Speaking about the attitude of the Railway Administrations in India towards their employees Unions he observed that out wardly it was one of sympathy but in actual practice the Administrations were not so. The latest instance he gave was of the Agent, M. and S. M. Railway who had issued a fiat that the Secretary of that Union who was an employee of the Railway, must either resign the service or leave the office of the Secretary, and he strongly condemned the attitude of the Agent as being unconstitutional and illegal. Alluding to the recent action of the Chief Accounts Officer in refusing promotion to senior and deserving men in the office he wondered whether the Chief Accounts Officer thought that they were only fit for work and not for promotion.

Mr S. C. Joshi in a short speech thanked the members of the Managing Committee for their enthusiasm and pains in doing the work of the Union and hoped many more would come forward to assist the Union.

After a vote of thanks to the chair the meeting terminated.

A new milestone in air transport history will be reached on July 7th|8th when Indian Trans-Continental Airways, in conjunction with Imperial Airways, will institute a new 1,500 miles air route which extends across India from Karachi to Calcutta.

The air service leaving London on July 1st will arrive in Karachi in the afternoon of July 7th and continue from Karachi at 4.35 p.m. the same day in an inaugural flight along this new trans-Indian service, being due to arrive at Jodhpur at 7.45 p.m. on Friday evening, July 7th. At 5 a.m. on the following morning the service is scheduled to depart from Jodhpur for Delhi, alighting there at 7.30 a.m., after which Cawnpore will be reached at 10-30 a.m. and Allahabad at 11.45 a.m., the aircraft being due at Calcutta, on the completion of its first flight across India, at 5.30 p.m. on the evening, of July 8th.

Each machine carrying out the Karachi-Calcutta flights will be an "Atalanta" monoplane air-liner, driven by four engines, developing a total of nearly 1,400 horse-power and capable, even when carrying a load of approximately a ton, of attaining a maximum speed of 150 miles-an-hour, and a cruising speeding of 120 miles an-hour.

A feature of these fine new airliners is the amount of space provided in their saloons for passengers, special reclining chairs being provided and a system of ventilation installed which will render them not only the swiftest, but also the most luxurious, vehicle in which to make a journey across India.

In regard to the air fares to be charged on the trans-Indian route, the cost of a flight between Calcutta and Karachi will be Rs. 400. From Calcutta to Jodhpur the fare will be Rs. 310, from Calcutta to Delhi Rs. 210, and from Calcutta to Allahabad Rs. 120.

Among other fares that might be mentioned as illustrations of the general facilities provided, are Calcutta-Cairo £42, Delhi-Baghdad £47, and Calcutta-London £122.

As regards air-mail charges it is understood that the rate, inclusive of ordinary postage, for a 1|2oz. letter to Great Britain from any point on the trans-Indian route east of Karachi will be 8 1|2 annas.

The first return flight across India will leave Calcutta at 6 a.m. on Tuesday, 11th July, and is due to reach London on 17th July. Thereafter a weekly service will be run, Calcutta being reached from London each Saturday evening, while the departure for London from Calcutta will take place on Tuesday mornings.

A Page About Pictures And The People Who Make Them

SHOWN ON THE SCREEN

"LOVE ME TO-NIGHT" STILL RUNNING AT PATHE

Lamington Road has this week been the scene of huge crowds clamouring to hear Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald sings their big song in "Love Me To-night."

Undoubtedly this is one of Chevalier's finest efforts and the four great song hits have become popular all over the town. "Love Me To-night", "Isn't it Romantic?" "Mimi" and "I'm an Apache."

The addition of Charles Ruggles to the cast of "Love Me To-night" is a great asset. This star of Paramount's is very popular in Bombay and his humour in this particular picture is infectious.

Apart from the fact that the film is packed with music and songs there is a really excellent story and some beautiful scenes. Those who were not fortunate enough to get seats during the first week should make every effort to see the picture during this coming week.

THE STORY.

Maurice Courtelin is the "best little tailor in all France," but he's not particularly well-known. Hence he is delighted when the Vicomte de Vareze pops in to his shop one day and orders 16 suites of clothes. The Vicomte is known as the best-dressed man in France, and his patronage, Maurice feels, will be his fortune.

Later, Maurice, inquires into the Vicomte's credit rating, and discovers it is a fat zero. Enraged, he sets off to the duke's castle, vowing not to return until he has collected.

En route, he meets a lovely lady who repulses his advances but leaves him intrigued nevertheless. When he arrives at the castle, he finds she is the Princess Jeanette, the Vicomte's cousin.

The Vicomte, startled at Maurice's arrival, passes him off as a baron, because otherwise, he informs Maurice, the Duke would kick him out. Under such false pretences, Maurice charms the entire household and its guests, particularly the three maiden aunts who guard over the Princess. She, incidentally, continues to repulse him. In a few days, however, she is as much in love with him as he is with her.

Then develops a compromising situation, at the end of which Maurice is obliged to reveal his true identity. Everyone, including Jeanette, is aghast. A tailor, making love to their princess!

Sick at heart and miserable, Maurice boards a train for Paris. But he looks out of the window a moment later. Jeanette, on horseback, is riding madly alongside the train, shouting to him to get off. He refuses. She pleads. He is adamant.

Then she speeds up her mount, getting in front of the train. The engineer stops it. She drags Maurice out. "You're staying," she tells him.

The engineer shrugs his shoulders. "C'est l'mour," he says.

"THE MAN WHO PLAYED GOD" AT EXCELSIOR

George Arliss, star of five of the talking screen's great pictures, arrives at the Excelsior Theatre to-day in his latest dramatic production, "The Man Who Played God", a Warner Bros., picture adapted from the stage play inspired by Governeur Morris' short story of the same title.

"The Man Who Played God" is a story of a musician of international fame, an essentially human being whose life and happiness revolves around his music and the pleasure he brings to countless thousands via the Heaven-sent gift he possesses. Fate plays strange tricks on him: giving and taking love, presenting the world for a plaything and then taking everything away. Arliss portrays every step in the drama with nuances and shadings rarely seen on the screen.

He is loved by two women, adored by thousands more. He was in love with one, a widow, played by Violet Heming, before she married another. She loves him but keeps her own council because she believes him to be in love with a young and beautiful girl, played by lovely Bette Davis, a newcomer to the screen whose work has been rewarded with a long term contract.

NAGANA REPEATED AT CARLTON

Owing to tremendous rush during the last week at the Carlton the great jungle thriller, "Naganna" is to be continued at the same theatre for a second week.

There will be three shows every day at 4, 6-30 and 10 p.m.

"SECRET OF MME. BLANCHE" AT CAPITOL

Cinema fans are tired of pictures which lack a plot and centre round themes which are merely commonplace. They will find that "The Secret of Madame Blanche," which will be released at the Capitol on Saturday, is entrely different and makes a powerful appeal to those who want drama in the real sense of the word. The denouement of this picture lends itself to skilful acting, and grips the imagination as it should do.

The picture is based on Martin Brown's notable stage play "The Lady." Miss Irene Dunne takes the stellar role and is assisted by Phillip Holmes, Lionel Atwill and Douglas Walton in the important parts.

The court scene where the truth comes to light, gives the story an unexpected turn, and is a fitting climax to an excellent production.

Metro Goldwyn-Mayer's latest picture is sure to draw crowded houses at the "Capitol" from Saturday onwards, and people are advised to book their seats early.

"SKY-DEVIL" AT WELLINGTON

One of the most thrilling pictures with spectacular aviation scenes comes to the Wellington Talkies, Dhobi Talao, this week. "Sky Devil," as the picture is titled, is described by Howard Hughes, the producer, as "the greatest pictude I have made,—better than Hell's Angels."

Spencer Tracy and William Boyd, both well known for their comedy gifts, and the charming actress Ann Dvorak, one of the most promising of screen's new "finds", are the principal players, and their work is so well co-ordinated that it keeps up the dramatic interest of the story through all the ramifying episodes. As for laughs and merriment, there is plenty of it from start to finsh, and the picture is a high-powered comedy that everyone will enjoy. The love interest is also well provided for.

Some of the most staggering aviation feats form the "highlight" of the picture. One sees 'planes tumbling thousands of feet through dizzy circles zipping into haystacks, crashing to the ground, and flying upside down through buildings and hangars. These are some of the most daring flying stunts ever recorded by a camera. The programme also includes all-colour musical Silly Symphony "Santa's Workshop" and Universal news-reel.

"GOOD COMPANIONS" AT ROXY

Based on J. B. Priestly's popular novel which is now in its 30th edition—and which, as a stage-play, enjoyed a prolonged run for over a year, "The Good Companions", a picture full of human interest, will be on view this week at the Roxy, New Queen's Road.

It is a tribute to the excellence of the production that it is the first talkie seen by their Majesties King George and Queen Mary. His Majesty so much enjoyed the picture that he congratulated the director Victor Seville for his very creditable achievement.

Jessie Matthews who scored such a hit in "Sunshine Susie" and other pictures appears as one of the principals in this delightfull story of human aspirations, follies, joys and disappointment. Jessie's brilliant performance adds fresh laurels to her distinguished career. The plot-deals with the fortunes of the members of a travelling concert party, and the scenes are laid in some of the most picturesque parts of England. What lends particular distinction is the greater human appeal resulting from selecting simple and humble people as the heroes. The treatment of the theme is so homely, intimate and genial, and yet so full of vitality and humour, that it grips the interest of the audience from its very first scene.

Excellent musical treat is provided by a number of tuneful song-hits written specially by George Passford, composer of "Good Night Vienna". The cast of 600 players is headed by ten stars.

Daring? Yes! And fascinating, too. One of the specially des igned costumes which are a feature of the light-hearted breeziness of the elaborate spec tacle, "Gold-Diggers of 1933"

NEW INDIAN FILM

Eastern Art productions Ltd., announce a pre-view show of "Insan ya Shaitan" on Sunday 9th July at 10 a.m. at the Majestic Cinema, Bombay. All distributors, exhibitors any press are cordially invited.

SCREEN TOPICS

A LADY'S DECREE.

Douglas Fairbanks planned to leave at night from New York, flying to Los Angeles by plane, but he reckoned, without his wife, the beautiful Mary Pickford.

Mary heard of the projected trip, and sent a telegram to her husband, telling him that she did not approve of night flying.

So Douglas took a night train!

The wife usually wins in matrimonial arguments. It also proves that Mary likes her husband quite a bit.

* * * *

ANOTHER FLYING LOVER.

Royal Flying Corps heroes seem to be all the rage again in Hollywood. Fredric March is the latest to don the familiar uniform for talkie purposes, and in his new film, "The Eagle and the Hawk," he spends his time between performing valorous feats in the air, in making violent love to Carole Lombard. Also in the cast are Cary Grant, Jack Oakoe and Sir Guy Standing father of the popular British actress, Kay Hammond.

* * * *

ALICE WILL LANGUISH.

Chances are that Mary Pickford will give up her idea of making 'Alice in Wonderland" with Walt Disney furnishing cartoons of the white rabbit, Cheshire cat, and all the other inhabitants of Lewis Carroll's realm of fantasy. The picture is regarded as too costly and too experimental. Disney would have had to supply 150,000 cartoons, more or less, to make this full-length feature.

Mary has talked of playing in "Alice" for all of ten years, but the plan has gone awry again.

* * * *

GARBO DROPS THE PILOT.

Greta Garbo has dropped Harry Edington, the press agent and manager, who invented her "mystery" act—the most successful publicity stunt in movie history. Greta, who is reputed to be nearly as good a business woman as she is an actress, is now handling all her own deals. She herself negotiated her present contract, under which she is reported to receive £50,000 per picture with two pictures a year for two years and must in this respect have had every reason to feel pleased with her success as her own manager.

Apart from being a marked advance financially on her former £1,000 a week agreement, the new contract has secured for her the final say about her stories, cast and direction.

Edington, it is significant to note, is now handling Marlene Dietrich.

"GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933"

This is one of the most lavishly staged musicals of the talkie era which glamorises the American chorus girl of whom there are one hundred and seven in the cast.

It is full of tuneful numbers and lavishly staged dance numbers and includes a strong cast headed by Warren William, Alice MacMahon, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell and Guy Kibbee. One of the big features of this ambitious production is the "Shadow Waltz", a number which is rendered by an assemble of violinists playing in an originally lighted setting.

Ruby Keeler, Al Jolson's wife, who made such a success with her first talkie appearance in 42nd Street, puts over some new numbers here dazzlingly and effectively.

* * * *

"EVENINGS FOR SALE"

In this Paramount production Herbert Marshall is an impoverished nobleman who contemplates suicide until he meets Sari Maritza at a fancy dress ball. At the same ball he meets Bimfi, his former orderly, and it is at his suggestion that he becomes a professional dancer at a cafe. Here, of course, Sari, finds him and scorns him for a gigolo.

At this cafe the nobleman-cum-dancer meets a kind-hearted American widow who is extremely wealthy. She decides to buy the impoverished nobleman's castle, thus adding to the complications considerably—and to the amusement of this film.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT."

Cinemagoers in search of pretty-pretty romance and sugary sentiment need not go to this Universal re-issue. It is the film-version of a book which shocked and stirred the world and it stresses, as did the book, the fact that War is not a matter of glory and glamour, with "brave boys" marching back to a hero's welcome; but a grim, horrible business, set in surroundings of mud, filth and beastliness.

Lewis Milestone made a magnificent film of "All Quiet." He has shown us the essential value and beauty of the ordinary things of home-life which every man who goes to war must sacrifice. He gives us a picture of a group of schoolboys thrust into war and, one by one, killed, and the reactions of each one to the environment in which he finds himself. Every part in the film is splendidly played; it would be unfair to single out Lew Ayres for praise rather than Louis Wolheim, Slim Summerville, or any of the other players. All work wonderfully and all have contributed an equal amount to the success of this very remarkable picture.

These Salaries Are Doomed

	Dollars per week.
Maurice Chevalier	10,000
Constance Bennett	7,500
Wallace Beery	5,000
Joan Crawford	4,500
Janet Gaynor	4,000
Ramon Novarro	4,000
Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	3,000
James Cagney	2,800
Clark Gable	2,500
	Dollars per film.
Greta Garbo	400,000
John Gilbert	250,000
Ann Harding	200,000
Barthelmess	175,000
Chatterton (in 2 years)	675,000

Can any star to-day really earn dollars 12,000 to dollars 15,000 a week? Should Garbo get dollars 400,000 a film as she is said to be getting under her new contract? Is Maurice Chevalier being vainly and insanely paid dollars 10,000 a week? Is Richard Barthelmess entitled to dollars 175,000 a picture? Are the Marx Brothers overpaid at dollars 200,000?

Right at the moment is the time for slaughter, if ever. Lots of bigtime contracts are expiring. Ruth Chatterton's for dollars 675,000 in two years ends in November. William Powell's dollars 3,000 or so a week is already over, but he has been re-engaged. Ronald Colman's dollars 125,000 a picture is off. Options face Ann Harding and Constance Bennett after about two more pictures each. Ann has been getting approximately dollars 200,000 per film and Constance dollars 7,500 a week, when the price wasn't upped to dollars 30,000 as it was when she was engaged for two films by Warner Brothers. This brought on a howl from both the public and exhibitors.

Some smart people profess to see a change coming in all this now. They think that in the future stars will be engaged much as they are on the New York stage, according to their merits and suitability for a certain attraction. Names don't mean what they once did, unless you have a whole bushel basket of them as in "Grand Hotel". "State Fair," or 'Dinner at Eight', 'Cavalcade' and 'Forty-second Street' have proved that pictures can get along without any big names, and in the first case even without stars who are known to most of the public.

There are too many personalities now-a-days for anybody to keep track of. The few real stars like Maurice Chevalier, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer, Marlene Dietrich, Will Rogers, Ruth Chatterton, George Arliss, Constantnce Bennett, Greta Garbo, and John Barrymore, will be paid a percentage of the profits on their films, as are a couple of them now, notably Chevalier and Miss Shearer. Some may be paid just by the picture, and engaged for one at a time. Dietrich desires to make that sort of contract. But there will be few contracts to run for five, six or seven years, with large increases at each option time.—"Picture Play."

WHAT'S ON AT THE CINEMAS

"BOUGHT" AT EMPIRE

The management takes pleasure in announcing to-day the opening of "Bought," the Warner Brothers production, starring Constance Bennett, screenland's highest paid actress.

Not the least of the important features of "Bought" is the appearance of Richard Benett, father of Constance Benett, in a supporting role. It is his initial attempt at playing in the supporting cast of his daughter's picture. Fittingly his role is that of the father of Stephany Dale played by Constance Bennett.

Miss Bennett brilliantly portrays the character of Stepheny Dale, a midern girl whose one ambition is to shine in the millionaire world from which her poverty and questionable birth bar her. As selfish as she is beautiful she is willing to live in idleness until the death of her mother forces her to go to work.

She leaves the young writer who loves her, and by false stories about her distinguisred ancestry, gets herself engaged to a rich man—who soon discovers the truth about her. This is but the beginning of a story which is tremendously human and holds its breathless suspense to the last moment of the last scene.

3RD WEEK OF "AFZAL" AT WEST END

Ajanta Cinetone's gorgeous Hindi talkie "Afzal" has been drawing packed houses at the West-End Cinema, Lamington Road. Owing to the great rush the picture is now continued for the third week.

Mr. Bhavnani has ably directed the picture, bringing to the production an excellent combination of talent and technical skill. The dance-numbers done by Mrs. Young and her ballet offer a pleasing novelty quite different from anything seen on the Indian screen. The brilliant cast is headed by Master Nissar, whose exquisite music and acting leave nothing to be desired. The story is of the Arabian Nights type, with a well-balanced combination of romance, thrills and fast-paced action. Plenty of comedy is provided by Kabuli, an actor whose previous work on the screen is well known. The musical part has been well don under Mr. Hoogen, the musical director. It is a picture well worth enjoying.

NO "SKINNY GIRLS" WANTED.

Mr. Carl Laemmle, the veteran chief of Universal, declares that the normal girl has come into her own.

"Neither the skinny girl, nor the one who wears trousers has any standing with Universal," he says in his latest bulletin.

We want the women who appear in our production to have the natural feminine lines. I am not in sympathy with the crazy idea of making caricatures of our actresses, nor with the idea of interfering with the creations of nature.

"Men do not like skinny women, nor do women themselves look upon them with any admiration. This skinny idea is merely a fad. I am opposed to it, and intend to see that Universal's women are the real flesh and blood article."

ANN HARDING FOR "ANN VICKERS"

An indication of the present movie trend is given in the announcement that Ann Harding, instead of Irene Dunne, as previously stated, is to be the star of Radio Pictures' screen version of Sinclair Lewis's best seller, "Ann Vickers."

Merian C. Cooper, the chief Radio Rajah, in announcing this decision, explained that the change is a result of the recent purchase of "Frivolous Sal," the current popular trend towards musicals and the splendid opportunities afforded by the latter story for the singing as well as histrionic talents of Irene Dunne.

DOUG JR.'S FUTURE.

Douglas Fairbanks, jun. appears to be in a far from happy situation. His contract with Warners expires this month, and his future in that studio seems uncertain. He and his wife, Joan Crawford, are living apart.

However, all may be well. Doug. Jun, is young and a great favourite, so he is certain to receive screen offers. He is on apparently good terms with Joan Crawford, and possibly there will be a reconciliation.

Joan is a member of a French-Canadian family which takes marriage relations seriously, and frown on divorce, so a "get-together" would hardly be surprising.

Does Hollywood Mock Marriage?

Divorce In Filmland Is Not Entered Into In Light-Hearted Style That Many Imagine : Stars Do Try To Avert Taking Final Step.

We hear a lot about Hollywood's divorces. "Happy marriages so rarely seem to remain happy for long. But do the stars really break up their mrriages quite so unthinkingly as most people believe? Reading the Hollywood divorce lists, this seems true enough—but if you could go behind the scenes. . .

Hollywood does not mock marriage.

Apart from a few exceptional cases, stars do not rush headlong into divorce. They do try to avert taking this final step. "They make far more desperate efforts to keep together than anyone outside the film industry can imagine."

JOAN CRAWFORD.

Hollywood knew for nearly a year that Doug. Fairbanks, jun., and Joan Crawford weren't getting along too well. For those twelve months, Doug. and Joan made frantic efforts to avoid splitting. They even came to Europe on a "second honeymoon" in an attempt to save their marriage from hitting the rocks. It was no good. After a whole year's battling to steer their partnership into calm waters, they had to give it up.

Few people outside Hollywood realize what a tremendous fight Buster Keaton and Nathalie Talmadge put up to avert their marriage finishing in divorce. Perhaps you remember how this solemn-faced comedian pleaded publicly with his wife to return to him after she had left him on one occasion?

You have my assurance that no two persons in the world could have put up a bigger fight to avoid divorce than did Buster Keaton and Nathalie Talmadge.

Zasu Pitts and Tom Gallery put up an equally strenuous effort to keep together, and it was several years before they confessed they were beaten.

MARIAN NIXON.

Marian Nixon and Edward Hillman, jun., are another couple who fought against marital disaster. They even adopted a baby; but in the end, they too, had to admit failure.

Why, you may ask, has Hollywood so much larger a percentage of divorces than England- Because life in Hollywood is far different from life in any English provincial town or suburb. The gossip is more pernicious; living is on an entirely different plane. And, when both husband and wife are working in the studios they see one another for only short periods at a time. Remember, too, that actors and actresses are always living, to a very great extent, on their nerves. They become temperamental—highly strung. Yes. it is unbelievably difficult to mix marriage and the movies successfully.

Ruth Chatterton and Ralph Forbes made a terrific effort to keep their love alive. But both were acting in the studios—and the studios demanded their toll.

It came as a shock to filmgoers when they split. But it wasn't such a shock to Hollywood. Ruth and Ralph had been fighting for a long time to keep together. And they might have been married still had not Ruth fallen in love with George Brent. Then it became impossible for her to remain married to Ralph Forbes, and she and her husband did the only sensible thing—and parted.

The stars don't want divorce. It is not good publicity. It is, in fact, very definitely 'bad' publicity. They are apt to lose a lot of "fans" through it, and this is the last thing in the world they want to do.

You don't think. do you, that such a sweet person as Ann Harding would get a divorce if she could help it? Ann and her husband, Harry Bannister, did everything in their power to avert the unhappy ending. But the situation became impossible. Ann so completely over shadowed her husband in the acting line. He became known merely as "Ann harding's husband." It didn't give him a chance to make headway of his own.

ADOLPHE MENJOU.

The case of Adolphe Menjou and Kathryn Carver, however, a happy ending. Everyone in Hollywood thought theirs an ideal romance. They hit it off extremely well together—probably because Kathryn wisely decided to desert the screen when she married. They were still perfectly happy when they came over to England last year. Mrs. Menjou was often to be seen at the studio while her husband was at work. It was obvious that they were still in love.

Then they disagreed. You're bound to disagree sometimes when you're married. And in filmland these disagreements are more serious than elsewhere.

A separation was announced.

But Adolphe and his wife didn't rush into divorce. They talked the matter over several times. and now all thoughts of divorce have gone. They have succeeded in finding the root of the trouble and harmony reigns again.

Some of the recognized happy marriages of Hollywood have had some narrow escapes. That of Barbara Stanwyck and Frank Fay is one. Hollywood gossips are always whispering that divorce will soon be rearing its head—simply because this is an Ann Harding-Harry Bannister case all over again. But Barbara and Frank persistently deny that they will part. The rumours, however, still continue to fly around, and there is talk that these two will turn their backs on Hollywood if the film city won't let them lead their own lives.

JANET GAYNOR.

And what about the most classical example of all? Janet Gaynor and Lydell Peck? How difficult it must have been for them, when Janet and Charles Farrell were constantly being referred to as "the screen's sweethearts". Little wonder that harmony could not reign for long!

Hollywood has even gossiped about Doug. Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, but these two wise folks are immune against rumours.

Please don't judge the stars too harshly when you hear they are getting a divorce. Although Hollywood makes it so difficult for them to make up quarrels, they do nine times out of ten, make strenuous efforts to evert the smash-up of their marriages. The wonder is that so many of them do succeed either in making up their disagreements in face of the gossips, or in putting off the divorce for so long!"Film Pictorial."

JESSIE MATTHEWS' RISE TO FAME

Struggling Through Poverty She Is Now One Of Prominent Stars Of Screen

Jessie Mathews, one of the principal stars in "The Good Companions" showing this week at the Roxy, owes a great deal of her success to her perseverance and determination. She was not born with the proverbial silver spoon in her mouth. In fact, her parents were working-class people. Her idea was to catch the theatrical manager's eye, and Jessie did it with a vengeance.

Andre Charlot was giving an audition of chorus girls of his new revue. As the hours flew by, Jessie chafed at being kept waiting, and stepping out of the queue, demanded of Charlot what he meant by keeping her all that time. While the theatrical staff waited for the thunderbolt to fall Charlot smiled, asked her name and told her that she could consider herself engaged.

STAGE-TRIUMPHS.

Jessie understudied Gertrude Lawrence when the show went to America. There, one night Miss Lawrence was taken ill. At the eleventh hour, Jessie took her place, and was at once a huge success.

Charlot decided to make Jessie his leading lady in the "1926 Revue". Again, Jessie scored, although at this time she was only 19. And so she went on from triumph to triumph.

Following on a theatrical visit to America with Jack Buchanan, Jessie received film offers from Warner Bros., Metro and Paramount. But she turned them down, because at that time she was about to take her first holiday in five years.

IN THE FILMS.

Finally, Gaumont-British secured her for a long-term contract. "There goes the Bride" provided her with her first starring role. Since then she has been the featued player in "The Midshipmaid", "The Man from Toronto" and "The Good Companions". She is now one of the most prominent stars of the screen.

Jessie is married to Sonnie Hale the delightful comedian who scored such a hit in "Tell Me Tonight" shown recently in Bombay.

CRAWFORD BEATS VINES IN WIMBLEDON TENNIS

First British Empire Player To Win Title Since 1922: Spectacular Stroke Play

LONDON, July 7.

At Wimbledon, in the Final, Crawford beat Vines, 4—6, 11—9, 6—2, 2—6, and 6—4.

SEMI-FINAL.

In a blazing sunshine another big crowd watched the Semi-final in which Von Cramm and Krahwinkel beat Kingsley and Mrs. Godfree, 6—2, 8—6.

QUARTER-FINAL.

In Quarter-final Farquharson and Heeley beat Miki and Dorothy Round 10—8 6—?

HOW CRAWFORD WON TITLE.

Crawford is the first British Empire player to win the title, since Paterson (Australia) won in 1922. Crawford's spectacular stroke play surpassed all the previous best standards. He slowly but surely found answer to Vines' Cannon ball service, and crashing drives returning them as they had never before been returned. The games went with the server for 19 games, and then Crawford broke through. The same happened in the fifth set up to fives all (5/5). Then, Crawford made almost impossible winning returns, off Vines' hurricane service and actually won the game to love.

OPEN GOLF

Third And Penultimate Championship Round

ST. ANDREWS, July 7.

A beautiful cool breeze was blowing and perfect conditions prevailed at the end of the third and penultimate round of championship. Hagen with a card of 79 totalling 219 dropped back, leaving Henry Cotton 72 with a total of 216, the veteran Mitchell 76; (total 216), Diegel (America) 71 (total 216), Kirkwood (America) 71 (total 216), and Easterbrook 71 (total 216), at the head of the field.

This is anybody's championship. Other scores are:

Dudley (America) 76; total 217.

Craigwood (America) 68; (out four! four! four! three! four! four! four! three! four; home four; two; three; five; four; four; four; four; four): total 217.

Sarazon 73; total 218.

Bover (France) 70; total 218.

Robertson (Scotland) 77; total 219.

Tolley 76; total 219.

There was sensation last night when the Royal and Ancient Committee had Genl. Sarazon before them. It is reported he had taken seven not six at the eleventh as he taken four shots, not three in the bunker. The Committee accepted the American's word, but it is rumoured that he is upset and would withdraw. Fortunately it is only a rumour.

A feature of the morning round was Craigwood's 68 and Hagen's 79. Diegol took six at the first hole. A drive landed in Swilcan Burn. Diegol lifted the ball and put it in again. He then took off his shoes and stockings and with the niblick splashed the ball onh to the green.

St. Andrews (July)

Craigwood and Shute tied in the Open Golf Championship with an aggregate of 292.

AMES HITS OUT

Reputation As England's Best Bat And Stumper Established

VERITY ROUTS W. INDIES

Townsend's Century Assures Him Of Place In Test Team

LONDON, July 6

Ames batting in brilliant style, hit out fiercely in the later stages of his innings. He strengthened the opinion that he is the best wicket-keeper and batsman England has ever produced. In his stay of 6 hours at the crease, he put together the highest score of the season, hitting one 6 and no less than thirty-four 4's. He was concerned in two magnificent partnerships, that with Todd yielding 259 in 195 minutes for the third wicket, and the other with Valentine in which he added 218 in 100 minutes for the fifth wicket.

Todd took no risks. Scoring mainly on the legside he compiled 121 including seventeen 4's. Valentine's chief hits were one 6 and a dozen boundaries.

Kent ran up the highest score of the season, and gave Gloucester a taste of their own medicine.

Verity routed the West Indies on a dew covered wicket, returning the remarkable analysis of 15 overs, 6 maidens, 29 runs, 7 wickets. Langridge gave an exhibition of faultless strokes. He batted for 5 hours reaching the boundary on eight occasions, and incidentally completed his thousand runs for the season.

Lancs made a sensational opening, losing their first three batsmen for a single. Jupp played uawless cricket, and his innings which lasted for nearly 4 1/2 hours included nine boundary hits.

Townsend strengthened his test claims by putting together 151 against Essex, which took him 4¼ hours to compile. He had one 5 and fourteen 4's in his total.—Reuter's Special.

Kirkee, playing with perfect understanding, soon broke through the Rangers' defence, and obtained a three goal lead at the interval.

NIZAM'S GOVT. MEMORANDUM TO SIMLA SUGAR CONFERENCE

Rs. 1,00,00,000 Set Aside For Development Of Cottage Industries And Encouragement Of Exhibitions And Fairs

HYDERABAD (Deccan), July 4.

Nawab Rais Jung Bahadur, the Acting Secretary, Commerce and Industries Department, Mr. Gulam Ali Mohammadi, Director of Commerce and Industries and Mr. Nizamuddin Hyder, Director of Agriculture, will represent the Nizam's Government at the Industries and Sugar Conference to be held in Simla next week.

It is understood that Mr. Nizamuddin Hyder will only attend the Sugar Conference while Nawab Rais Jung Bahadur and Mr. Mohammadi will represent the State on both the Conferences.

A memorandum drawn up on the items of the agenda for the Industries Conference has been forwarded by the Nizam's Government, which, it is understood, sets out the work at present being done in the State on the various questions raised and discusses certain directions in which improvements could be affected.

NEED FOR STATE AID

The mamorandum recognizes the importance of State aid to Industries, the development of cottage industries and marketing of products, as also the encouragement of Exhibitions and Industrial Fairs, and points out that the Government have set aside a crore of rupees for helping industries, which is controlled by a Board of three members of the Executive Council with the Finance Member as Chairman.

The corpus of the Fund, the memorandum declares, is invested in large size industries and share-capital and the income from the investments is used in the development of cottage industries, the propagation of technical and industrial education, the undertaking of industrial survey and the granting of loans to small scale industries under rules sanctioned by the Government at 6 per cent. interest.

It also points to the Cottage Industries Institute which is being run by the Government along side with a Sales Depot and emphasises the great need for the developmennt of marketing facilities for the products of handweaving and other cottage industries.

The Nizam's Government also favours the co-ordination and development of statistic bearing on industries and the compilation of Industrial Directories, which it states will be great help in developing markets for local industries.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The question of technical education is also discussed briefly, the purport of which is that the grant of technical scholarships for studies abroad should be encouraged, provided suitable practical training could be obtained by scholars in factories and and workshops of foreign countries where they may proceed for training.

Industrial research, says the Nizam's Government, should be centralised so as to avoid duplication, and adds that research should be carried out for using industrial alcohol as fuel for internal combustion engines in mixture with petrol since large quantities of alcohol could be produced in India from 'mohua' flowers or molasses.

Middle class unemployment is a growing problem with the growth of university education here and the development of technical and industrial education is considered to be the only remedy for it.—A. P.

MODERN INDIAN ART

Exhibition To Be Opened In London Next Year

The Western India Regional Committee for the Exhibition of Modern Indian Art in London have issued the following preliminary notice:—

The Council of the India Society of London propose to hold a representative Exhibition of the Fine Arts of modern India in London in 1934, and have issued some particulars for the information of the Committees, which are being formed in India to collaborate with the Society towards this end.

The India Society approached the Director of the Sir J. J. School of Art, Bombay, and asked him to form a Committee to be known as the Regional Committee of Western India for the purpose of selecting the exhibits which will represent Western India at this Exhibition.

The Regional Committee consists of Sir Phiroze C. Sethna, Mr. M. R. Jayakar, Mr. Kanaiyalal H. Vakil, (Hon. Secretary) Mr. Gladstone Solomon, Director, J. J. School of Art, Mr. Claude Batley, Professor of Architecture School of Art, Rao Bahadur G. K. Mhatre, Mr. R. B. Ewbank, Lady Beaumont, Mr. V. V. Oak, Mr. M. S. Pithawalla, Mr. M. A. Joshi and Mr. B. P. Talim.

His Excellency the Governor has very kindly consented to become the Patron of the Regional Committee.

As the aim of the Exhibition is to demonstrate to the European public and to Wesern art critics the merits and value of Modern Indian Art, it cannot be too strongly urged upon those desirous of exhibiting that only the best work should be sent in. Artists are advised to show work which is Indian in feeling, as the public in Europe are likely to be inerested in oriental painting sculpture, and architecture, which they do not have much opportunity of seeing on a comprehensive scale.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

It is the object of the Committee to get together a thoroughly representative exhibition of painting, sculpture, and architecture, which will in all respects be worthy of this city and Presidency. Naturally this enterprise will require considerable funds, if it is to be successful. The Regional Committee hope that the well-known interest in art of the public in Bombay will be demonstrated by the willingness of all those interested in the progress of art in India to come forward and help the Committee with the necessary funds. An appeal for financial assistance is being made to Government; but the Committee do not expect that at this time of financial difficulty, the support from official sources will suffice to cover more than a fraction of the cost.

ENHANCED RENTS MUST BE REDUCED

Kalachowki Chawl Tenants' Demands

Under the auspices of the Lalbavta Girni Kamgar Union a meeting of the tenants of the Gopal Vani's chawl situated at Kala Choki, was held on Sunday last to consider the extraordinary enhancement in the rents made by the owner of the chawl since 1923 and to find the ways to fight out the owner's offensive. The meeting passed a resolution stating that the rate of rent in the year 1923 was Rs. 3-6-0, which was gradually raised to Rs. 5 per month and that in the present circumstances when the wages of the workers are being cut by 25 to 30 per cent, the workers are unable to pay any rent more than what it existed in 1926 and that the condition of the chawl is such as it would be declared to be unfit for human habitation, if the same is inspected by the Municipal authorities.

After appointing a committee to conduct the struggle the meeting broke up.

WALL-STREET WATCHES LONDON

(SPECIAL CABLE.)

LONDON, July 6.

The Stock Exchange was generally quieter mainly owing to the fortnight account drawing to a close, but with the profit-taking well absorbed, the undertone continued good all round.

Commodity markets also were quieter, though a steadier tendency was generally evident at the close, apart from Liverpool cotton which was reactionary.

Silver has fallen nearly half a penny under American selling.

Wall Street was fluctuating nervously owing to the possibility of breakdown of the conference.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Feeling Great

If you wake up in the morning feeling sour and depressed, entirely lacking in vim and vigour, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil or harsh purgatives and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

They can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The real reason for your run down feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Your stomach is filled with gas. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel blown and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "tip top". They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts especially effective when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Always look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the Red Package Label.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE
SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1933

THE MANLY COURSE

The Political Correspondent, whose forecast of the Poona Conference we published yesterday, has done a service by drawing attention to the possibility of Gandhiji carrying on Civil Disobedience even independently of the Congress. What the Congress should do in such a contingency is an important question which it is necessary to discuss dispassionately before the Conference meets. If it should come as a surprise to the Conference, many are likely to be guided in their decisions more by sentiment and personal influence than by clear reason. Wrong decisions might thus be arrived at and it might take months, if not years, to correct them.

GANDHIJI'S ATTITUDE

What the Correspondent suggests is a distinct probability. Gandhiji has stated time and again that his faith is evergreen in the efficacy of Civil Disobedience as a method "par excellence" for the redress of grievances when milder methods have been tried and failed. He will, of course, be adamant on absolute non-violence and open propaganda. The present methods of carrying on Civil Disobedience are attended with risks and too secret to commend themselves to him. But he would urge that these difficulties would not arise if individual Civil Disobedience were to be resumed by him and such others as fully believed in his principles. He has always attached more importance to the purity of Civil Disobedience than to its extent. It will also be remembered that, when Gandhiji began his march to Dandi, he solemnly declared that he would not go back to his Ashram unless he had won for India the substance of Swaraj.

WHAT SHOULD CONGRESS DO?

Thus for various reasons it is quite possible that Gandhiji might insist on resuming Civil Disobedience with his selected followers, irrespective of what the Congress does. And it is neither possible nor in such a case desirable for the Congress to prevent individuals from acting according to their own lights. But the supreme question is what programme the Congress should follow in such a contingency. It may be safely assumed that the resumption of mass Civil Disobedience is out of the question. Gandhiji himself might vote against it, except on conditions about non-violence and open propaganda which many Congress Committees would regard as too strict and impracticable for a mass movement. Should the Congress in such circumstances identify itself with and promote individual Civil Disobedience? We deem it our duty to state frankly that such a course would be absolutely wrong and futile. It would be attended with all the present disadvantages of a mass movement but with little of the enthusiasm and none of the effective utility, such as is, of the present movement in the state to which it has dwindled. It has to be borne in mind that, so long as Congress is committed to the movement on any scale, it is obviously impossible for it to do any constructive work.

HONOURABLE AND MANLY

"Is it honourable, is it manly," it may be asked, "for the Congress and the public to keep quiet when Gandhiji and his disciples rot in jail"? It would be cowardly to do so. Every Indian, ought to learn from Gandhiji's example to be intensely earnest, self-sacrificing and, above all, true to his convictions. But Congressmen are not asked by anyone to keep quiet. It is the inactivity produced by the presente state of paralysis induced by the disabilities imposed by Civil Disobedience which has led to the realisation of the need for a new programme and has forced Congressmen to consider whether in the present circumstances it is possible for them to continue Civil Disobedience of any kind to anything like a successful end. If they think as we do, and we believe the majority of them do, that such a proposition is not feasible, it is their sacred duty to follow the dictates of their conscience, even as Gandhiji does his, and work out an alternative programme. It is superfluous to add that all India would be happy if Gandhiji himself could devise an alternative programme and lead it.

Questionable Friends

The fraudulent nature of the White Paper constitution is evident from the memorandum submitted by the Union of Britain and India to the Joint Parliamentary Committee. The Union is more concerned with the White Paper than with Indian aspirations and it cannot be otherwise, seeing that its sponsors are notorious enemies of Indian progress, like Mr. Edward Villiers, Sir John Thompson, and Sir Alfred Watson. Neither of them was a "persona grata" with Indians; while one of them was the great defender of Jallianwallah Bagh shooting, the other two have been the most ardent supporters of repression and the most fervent advocates of every scheme for applying a brake on India's advance to political freedom.

While the European Association is mortally afraid of the Terrorists, the Union is equally afraid of the Congress and its influence on the masses, for it had to admit that during the last 15 years there has been a wonderful awakening among the masses, due mainly to the activities of the Congress and its army of self-less workers. The Union dreads the increasing influence of this great political organisation and, as an effective antidote, wants to give Indians the White Paper, with its many safeguards. Some of the members of the Union are not even satisfied with the safeguards contained in the White Paper and ask for more to make their interests safer.

Lord Rankeillour put a straight question to Sir J. Thompson, in reply to which he said that whatever the expectations aroused in the masses, the safeguards must be there. This gives away their whole dishonest case and the vicarious concern for the masses. Mr. Villiers said that "India as a whole recognised that the White Paper was broadly reasonable and went so far as India could go." We should like to know who authorised or asked him to speak on behalf of India! India has wholly rejected the White Paper and will have nothing to do with it.

It was suggested that should a Minister refuse to accept office unless the military expenditure is reduced to suitable proportions, the Governor should be allowed to appoint his nominee from the Services, perhaps a Civilian or a Policeman, if not a C.I.D. expert, to do the job. Sir A. Watson is more concerned with trade, since he had to represent the interests of his employers, and spoke optimistically about future co-operation between Indians and Britishers in commercial ventures.

The whole evidence was hypocritical and dishonest and intended more to safeguard the interests of the Calcutta jute manufacturers than the Indian masses, who will continue to be exploited by them. A scheme with which the names of these three persons is connected must stand condemned at the very outset, for they are no true friends of India or its people.

In More Chastened Mood

When an appeal was made to the Foreign Secretary to put a stop to aerial bombing for police purposes, Captain Eden, the Under-Secretary, stated that the question had been thoroughly examined for a considerable time, and he himself was thoroughly convinced that the Disarmament Conference "appreciated the immense strength of their case in respect of reservation." And we were treated to some more of hypocritical sob stuff for which British politicians are notorious. The Commons were told that if Britishers did not bomb villagers, it would be a "dereliction of their responsibility in certain parts of the world." In plain words, a form of war which is universally condemned, was to be permitted to Britain for the collection of taxes and police work in peace time. It takes one's breath away.

When Great Britain had the largest navy in the world, it was her proud privilege to call herself the world's policeman, assuming to herself the function of keeping the weaker, and particularly the coloured, peoples in order. If the Disarmament Conference fails to achieve success, it is not the concern of either Captain Eden or Great Britain, for whatever she does must be right. We have no doubt the rumours about Sir John Simon's impending resignation on this score are without any foundation, for a man who has shown such an elastic conscience all these years, can certainly accommodate himself to new circumstances.

In mail week there were indignant protests in the Commons at the attitude of the Government, and particularly of Captain Eden, and not only Labourites and Liberals, but even Conservatives objected to aerial bombing. Mr. Vyvyan Adams went so far as to warn the Government that they would "expose themselves to the odious suggestion that this country wanted permanently to discriminate between the treatment of white and coloured people." Major Attlee said there was no difference between bombing a Western city and an Arab village!

But Captain Eden and the Government were adamant, and wanted to persist in following the policy which is so dear to the hearts of many Tories. The only practical argument brought forward so far in favour of air bombing is that it is cheaper than employing large armies to subjugate recalcitrant mountain tribes. In these days when everything is weighed in terms of money, we need not be surprised that cheapness is advanced as the reason for continuing a practice that is reprobated by humanity. Captain Eden's reply to Sir Austen Chamberlain in the Commons on Wednesday suggests that the Government is now in a more chastened mood. The condemnation of every delegation in the Conference, except their own Iraqi puppet, and criticisms in the British and Foreign press, of a kind that are not very agreeable to hear, seem to have had their effect and we may hope that this practice of bombing for police purposes will now be definitely abandoned.

New Programmes

If true civil resistance (like the Sermon on the Mount) is inoperative in the world at the moment, it does not reflect on the doctrine of non-violence whose expression it is, and it is not for any who dissent directly or indirectly to culcate in such believers, faith in the opposite remedy. As a matter of fact the pother about "calling off" is due to the official desire to rub it in as a perpetual lesson for the Congress and also as a measure of satisfaction to what may be called the "Versailles spirit" in the heart of the victors, who do not know how subsequent experience has a trick of revising verdicts of war-guilt. Those who feel that the civil disobedience movement is dead should agree to turn their back on the scene and proceed with New Programmes.—"Hindustan Times."

At Long Last

At long last Mr. Jayakar has been disillusioned. And if newspaper reports are true Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru has also booked his passage for 7th July. It is certainly farcical that since this sham of Round Table Conferences commenced our Liberal leaders went full of hope to every Conference and at the conclusion of each session they claimed to be bitterly disappointed. But the disappointment did not prevent them from attending a fresh session of the Conference with the British Government. What credit does Mr. Jayakar and his party expect for such spineless behaviour? Was it not quite on the cards that verbiage at the Conferences would serve no useful ends? Did it require a person of Mr. Jayakar's intelligence and experience of public life all this time to realise that these confabulations were utterly futile?—"Swarajya."

Delegation's Duty

The Joint Committee, in giving free rein to such witnesses, is apparently asserting its independence and its resolve not to be bound by the conclusions of the Round Table Conference. Mr. Jayakar, speaking at a London meeting, deplored this state of affairs; "the White Paper," he pointed out, "had agreed to the transfer of Law and Order in the Provinces, but when the Indian delegation arrived they were asked on the second day to justify the transfer, they were put on the defensive." The Indian delegation should, we think, make it clear at the forthcoming consultation—as we believe prominent members have already done in private—that if the Government do not make their position clear on the outstanding issues, no purpose would be served by persevering with what has degenerated into a roving enquiry into "the mental and moral progress of India."—"Hindu."

FEDERATION AND STATES' PEOPLES

Without Direct Representation Of People, There Can Be No Federation

By Prof. J. R. ABHYANKER.

The fourth sessions of the Indian States' People's Conference is to be held on the 22nd of this month in Bombay under the presidentship of Mr. N. C. Kelkar, the leader of Maharashtra.

Ever since the reform proposals were under consideration the States' people have been deliberately ignored in all the consultations. When the intention of the Round Table Conference was announced the Labour Secretary of State, Mr. Wedgwood Ben, stated in the House of Commons that the Conference was to be fully representative of different parties and interests in British India and of the Indian States. The States' people number 80 millions. They are entitled to protection at the hands of the British Government.

WANTED REPRESENTATION

It must be remembered that the States' people pay taxation to the Federal Government. Federal laws would be binding upon the States' people. Yet they are denied any voice in the deliberations about the new constitution. It is said that the autocratic Princes threatened to secede from the R. T. Conferences if the representatives of the people were admitted to them. These conferences were not between the rulers of Indian India and the rulers of British India. If this had been so there would have been some force in the constitutional objection that the subjects have no place in such a conference.

But if the British Indian people along with the rulers of British India and British statesmen were invited to participate in the deliberations about the future constitution there is no earthly reason to exclude the representatives of such a vital interest in this conference.

The States' people are denied the right to send their delegates to the Federal Houses through the open and approved method of election. The Federal Legislature is to deal with matters of common concern which vitally affect the people of the States rather than their autocratic Princes. Legislation and taxation about customs would be the most important subjects which the Federal Government would deal with in the future. The customs revenue is paid by the States' people along with the British Indian people in an indirect manner.

AN ANOMALY

Many rulers are exempted from the customs duties and this immunity they enjoy as a privilege of a political and sentimental nature. In spite of this they pretend to represent their people in the Federal Legislature. No taxation without representation is the cardinal principle of every democratic institution of a federal type. Why in the case of the States' people this is flouted to the winds no sane man can perceive. The

Frankly Speaking

LET THEM TRY.

It is difficult to characterise the attitude of the Secretary of State for India who persists in shutting his eyes to facts and proceeds to retail fiction in the Commons, for the benefit of the British public, which nobody in India believes.

Pandit Malaviya has repeatedly challenged the Government to prosecute him and he has reiterated his statements. What is more, Mrs. Sen Gupta has reinforced them the other day.

The Government of India thought that discretion was the better part of valour and left the venerable Pandit severally alone. But here is Sir Samuel Hoare's understudy threatening to prosecute the "Indian Bulletin" if it repeated the story again.

We have no doubt whatever that the "Indian Bulletin" is quite capable of taking care of itself, since it is conducted by eminent men who want to serve India not for profit, but because they are anxious to help her to freedom.

If the Government dare not prosecute the Pandit even in India, we can take it for granted that Sir Samuel Hoare will be the last man to try his luck in a British court of law, in spite of the overwhelming reaction in that country just now.

STUPID BUT MISCHIEVOUS.

Monsignor D'Herbigny, who appears to be doing the job of a professional propagandist in Europe for the Catholic religion, has discovered—or professes to have discovered— an extraordinary "mare's nest" in the Rationalist Association of India which is functioning in Bombay.

In an article in the "Revue des Deux Mondes" he tries to make the flesh of the faithful creep with a story of the Association being run by Terrorists and Communists with a view to conducting violent revolutionary propaganda under the guise of an anti-religious society.

To people of Bombay, who know the type and character of the men who run the Association, the suggestion is merely laughable. But the readers of the "Revue des Deux Mondes" who know nothing of Bombay and probably less of Rationalism, are no doubt taken in by this sort of stuff.

But, really, a Monsignor of the Church ought to have more respect for his own cloth and the dignity of his own office than to indulge in reckless misrepresentation of this kind and so should a journal of the status of the "Revue des Mondes."

Dr. D'Avoine in describing this sort of propaganda as malicious and stupid and its author as a "first-cass liar," does not go too far.

AN UNWORTHY ATTEMPT.

The Depressed Classes of Bengal have rightly condemned the attempts of some caste Hindus of the Province to get the Poona Pact revised by the Joint Committee.

It is fortunate, however, that such attempts are confined to only a small section of caste Hindus. Their contention that the Pact was arrived at without the approval of the Bengal delegates has been nailed to the counter often before. It is ridiculous for them to argue now that they accepted the Pact without a protest for a time out of their concern for Gandhiji's health.

There is more force in the contention that the Harijan population in Bengal does not warrant the number of seats allotted to them. But this has yet to be proved by facts and figures.

Even if it can be proved, the right course is to attempt a new local past. It is unworthy to call upon the Joint Committee to scrap the Poona Pact.

PUBLISH THE SCHEME.

We have been told for months past that the communal leaders of the Punjab have arrived at a settlement and that only its details are being worked out. But it is surprising that the final draft is still kept a close secret.

It is said that it will be published only when its adoption is moved at the next session of the Legislative Council to be held shortly. But its framers are sadly mistaken if they think it enough for the Council to endorse the settlement without any regard to the opinions of the communal leaders out of the Council.

Nor is it possible for these leaders to express a final opinion on the settlement without consulting the public in general. It is, therefore, necessary to publish the draft settlement immediately and call a conference of leaders to consider it finally even before it is presented to the Council.

In the absence of open discussion several Nationalists suspect that the scheme smacks too much of officialdom.

RELIEF FOR U. P. TENANTS.

Even the U. P. Government have been compelled to recognise the agrarian distress in the province by bringing in Bills to give some relief to the agriculturists.

The Finance Member introduced three Bills in the Council: the first was the U. P. Reduction of Interest Bill, the second was called the Agricultural Relief Bill, and the last was the Usurious Loans in U. P. Amendment Bill.

It will be remembered that the Civil Disobedience movement was precipitated by the pitiable condition of the U. P. agriculturists, whom both Government and the Talukdars were pressing for payment.

When the agriculturists refused to pay there were evictions on a large scale and the Government went to the aid of the landlords by bringing forward a special measure for the collection of revenue.

But that could not give relief to the tillers of the soil Let us hope the new Bills will alleviate their sufferings to some extent.

MALICIOUS AND STUPID

From Dr. C. L. D'Avoine, Editor of "Reason," Vice-President, Rationalist Association.

I beg to request the hospitality of your columns to repudiate the malicious accusation of a Monsignor D'Herbigny against the Rationalist Association of India and its official Organ "Reason" in the "Revue de Deux Mondes" of Paris.

Writing on "La Propagande Sovietique Anti-religeuse" this Catholic prelate has invented a story that will make any sensible person in India laugh and, at the same time, marvel at the length to which some Catholic priests will go in libelling those whom they consider as their adversaries. It will also be seen how mean and cowardly is the attempt of these people to identify every anti-religious association with the Soviets knowing full well that, rightly or wrongly, the Communists of Russia are at present held in aversion in many countries. The story of Mgr. D'Herbigny about the Rationalist Association of India is this:—

There is a strong Terrorist movement in India to overturn the present Government, and the members of the same, who are people without any scruples, are openly affiliated with Moscow as was realed in the Meerut case. Since that case, the Terrorist movement is proceeding more cautiously and has thought of conducting its propaganda under the guise of an anti-religious society in order to enlist more people without scruples. As religion is the only obstacle in the way of its success—being the only thing that makes people scrupulous—and as it is found that the Mahomedans and Hindus are greatly attached to their religion, an Association has been formed in India, first usder the name of the Anti-Priest-Craft Association and subsequently changed to "The Rationalist Association of India" with the object of winning the Catholics of India who are in a minority, and therefore not very powerful to resist, to carry on the iniquitous propaganda against the Government.

The Monsignor affirms that the Rationalist Association of India is affiliated with Moscow and draws all its strength and encouragement from the U.S.S.R.

It passes one's comprehension how the "Revue des Deux Mondes" could publish such a grostesque and ridiculous story from an irresponsible person whose object is perfectly clear. To raise the suspicion of the Government of India against an Association which he evidently dislikes. In my magazine this month I have characterized this as a cowardly and malicious attack with a sinister object and I have frankly called that Monsignor a first class liar.

BOMBAY JUDICIAL SERVICE

From I. J. Baloo, Nadiad.

It is a happy idea that the trend of Bombay Government, as it appears from Government circulars and resolutions, is towards accepting the services of the members of Backward classes and Mahomedans in all departments. The absence of such persons is felt in the Bombay Judicial service. One would rather feel surprised to know that, out of 34 Gujarati Subordinate Judges, the distribution according to communities is as follows:—12 Brahmins, 9 Banias, 7 Patels, 2 Parsis, 3 Muslims and 1 Darji.

The absence of most of the Gujarati intermediate and backward communities such as Sutar, Luhar, Rajput Soni, Barber, Potter, Rabari, Baot, Gola, Kachia, Ravalia, etc., is quite patent. Competent persons belonging to such classes and following the legal profession are surely available. Their absence may very well be due to the lack of recommendation by the local Judiciary or the High Court Committee. Possibly, in no selection Committee appointed by the High Court has there ever been a member of the Backward Classes. Sometimes a Muslim gets into it.

The result is that there is 9 p.c. Muslim representation, 4 p.c. Backward classes, and the rest 87 p.c. Advanced Classes in this important Branch of Government service; though according to population, there are 15 p.c. Muslims, 70 p.c. Intermediate and Backward communities and 15 p.c. Advanced classes. Will the Government consider this anomaly? Will the Backward Class Department inquire into this side of the question and see that proportionate representation of all communities in the Bombay Judicial service is guaranteed

GOANS' GRIEVANCES

From Jivraj N. Kambatta.

The Goan Community are under a deep debt of gratitude to you for so bravely expousing their cause. The correspondence appearing in your esteemed journal shows without a doubt that the Goans have a real grievance.

As a citizen of Bombay, as a friend, as a teacher, as a master and even as a servant a Goan is second to none in his loyalty. My contact with the Goans has been very continuous for over twenty years.

In spite of their awkward position as subjects of Portugal and Citizens of the British India they have never, given the opportunity, and without betraying their trust, failed to identify themselves with the Indian Nationalist Movement. The first president of the Christian Congress Party, I understand, was a Goan. In the Congress itself and taking a prominent part in the movement there have been many Goans.

Should we now, in their hour of need forsake them? I am told that for the slightest agitation they are threatened with deportation. We have had some recent instances.

This brings to my mind a happening that should have had the instant attention of our members in the Legislative Council. Bombay purchases thousands of Goa Lottery tickets. Illegal that may be, but Bombay should know if these lotteries are run in a systematic and business like way. Recently there was a complaint filed against certain Goans connected with the lottery. The complainant was deported without being given the chance to prove or disprove his complaint.

The Consul General for Portugal wrote and told your readers that the suit was dismissed; so far as my information goes the complainant was asked to refile his complaint on some "technical" ground. Will the Bombay members of the Legislative Council elicit information on this point.

Pardon the digression. Let us hope that the Bombay Public will not have any high handedness on the part of Portuguese officials towards Goan citizens of Bombay, go by without any telling action.

VACCINATION AN OBSESSION

From Miss L. Loat, Secretary of the Anti-Vaccination League, London.

An outbreak of small-pox in Goa has been reported. Twenty years ago, in reply to the representations of the Governor of Bombay to the Governor of Goa, suggesting that re-vaccination be made compulsory in Goa, the Governor of Goa replied that re-vaccination was already compulsory there.

In a discussion at a meeting of the Bombay Corporation a year later, Sir Pherozesah Mehta pointed out that there was small-pox in vaccinated and re-vaccinated Goa and suggested that this was an argument against making re-vaccination compulsory.

When will the authorities learn that vaccination is an utterly irrelevant matter so far as the control of small-pox is concerned? Small-pox is a filth disease, whether it occurs amongst the poor or in better-class families.

It is much more frequent in poor districts because those districts are usually insanitary and overcrowded. Poor people cannot get a sufficient quantity of the right kind of food and while they live in insanitary districts they are breathing in a constant stream of foul air. The water suppply is often contaminated in such districts, and this is an additional method of poisoning the system.

If the authorities would conduct a control experiment and leave one province of India entirely without vaccination, there can be no doubt that the result would not be any increase in small-pox, while the infant mortality would probably be reduced and the health of older children would improve.

Unfortunately belief in vaccination is an obsession. The average medical official is entirely blind to the implications of his own records, and he simply loses his temper when these implications are pointed out to him.

Some eleven years ago there was a shocking outbreak of small-pox in Madras, in spite of compulsory vaccination for forty years. I pointed out a number of facts to the Medical Officer of Health, who was so angry at having his attention called to these matters that he returned my letter, as he would not keep it amongst the official records. It is this spirit that prevents a proper examination of the facts.

Expenditure Of About 10 Crores Of Rupees

What Tax-Payer Will Have To Pay For Establishing Provincial Autonomy And Federal Centre

LONDON, July 7.

The expenditure involved in establishing provincial autonomy will be between six and eight crores and the Federal centre about two and a half crores, according to a memorandum on the financial implications of provincial autonomy and federation drawn up by Sir Malcolm Hailey.

The memorandum emphasises that the whole position, broadly, is dependent on world recovery, and says that an assured improvement of Central finances is necessary before it is possible to make any surrender to provinces: and their creation as autonomous units is, therefore, impossible until Central finances are considerably bettered.

"DEPRESSING IMPRESSION."

The memorandum was presented to the Select Committee by Sir S. Hoare, whose speech with the memorandum is issued to-day. Sir S. Hoare, in his speech, thought the first impression would be rather depressing. "We see in all their nakedness awkward financial facts connected with the Government of India, to-day, and the Government of India to-morrow." He pointed out, however, as countervailing factors, the steady improvement of Indian credit, the fact that India responded quickly, the improvement in the economic field, the possibility of further economies particularly in provinces, and the hope that deliberations of the Capitation Tribunal might eventuate in some contribution towards the defence of India.

THREE FACTS.

After analysing the position Sir S. Hoare thought three facts emerged: first, that there was very little money available, second, unless the world position improved, there must be re-adjustment of the views generally to the whole problem of Indian revenue and expenditure, third, that the main cause of perhaps a deficit of ten crores was not so much constitutional changes as the system of Indian finance generally.

Sir S. Hoare suggested that the wise course would be for the Select Committee to keep the facts constantly in mind, but to proceed with the constitutional plans.

HOPE OF TURN FOR BETTER.

Sir S. Hoare pointed out that no country in the world, in the present uncertain conditions, was able to say accurately what state of its finances would be a year ahead. We must go on hoping that there would be a turn for the better and rely on the fact that we had always assumed in the Round Table Conference discussions that we were unable to make definite estimates until the last moment, and at the last moment there must be an expert enquiry with a view to readjusting the financial position, if necessary.

and then of leakage. But I never came across them."

NOT DIFFICULT TO ATTRACT RIGHT ENGLISHMEN.

Sir C. Innes informed Mr. Chamberlain that he did not believe it would be difficult to attract the right Englishmen to the Services if the White Paper proposals were carried out.

Major Cadogan asked what would be the position if the Secretary of State's control over recruiting for All-India Services was removed.

Sir C. Innes hoped it would continue a long time, and expressed the opinion that the Indian delegates would be wise to agree to it, but any way he thought a good class of Englishman should be secured.

While Major Craddock was putting questions with regard to the effect of a wider franchise existing in Burma, in which connection Sir C. Innes said he did not think that the average peasant had shown much discrimination in recording his vote, Lord Burnham interposed, and asked if the Select Committee would have an opportunity of considering the question of separation of Burma which affected the whole of financial arrangements.

The Chairman: "I have no doubt that would be the case."

TERRORIST MOVEMENT.

The chief feature of the conclusion of the evidence of Sir J. Thompson, Sir A. Watson and Mr. Villiers was the account of the terrorist movement given by Sir A. Watson, who said: "Its objective is to break down the present system of rule. It is a wildly sentimental movement against the form of rule which they consider has never done them justice. Its adherents are generally intellectual young men, who having attained University degrees, find no means of livelihood and drift into a state of despair."

Sir A. Watson did not think that the movement would be immediately eliminated with grant of Responsible Government, but the target would be changed.

Mr. Iyengar suggested the desirability of inserting in the White Paper proposals to induce Indian ministers to face terrorism and deal with it.

Sir J. Thompson agreed to the desirability of doing everything possible, but there were difficulties in carrying out the suggestion.

by an appeal to the highest in man, and this could be made only by self-purification by fasting conceived as the deepest prayer coming from a lacerated heart.

BEGINNING OF CHAIN OF FASTS

The invisible effect of such fasting is greater, and more extensive than the visible effect and, therefore, the conviction has gone deeper in him that his fast is but the beginning of a chain of true voluntary fasts by worthy and qualified men and women.

He does not know how this chain can be established but if it can, that will touch, as nothing else, the hearts of Hindus, both opponents of reform and Harijans. Harijans have also their part in the movement, and he is glad that the fact has not left them untouched.—A. P.

UNIVERSITY IN PALESTINE

Appeal To Help Building Fund

MUSLIMS' DUTY

Holy Place Should Be Protected At All Costs

An appeal was made to the Muslims of India to contribute their mite towards the University in Palestine at a public meeting called under the auspices of the Jamiat Ashubban-al-Muslimen, in the Anjumane Islam Hall, on Friday evening. Dr. Dawood Pota, presided.

MUSLIMS' DUTY.

Maulana Shaukat Ali, speaking of his personal experience of Palestine, said it was the duty of every Muslim to support the institution and help the deputation headed by Mufti Syed Amin Al Hussani and Mohmedali Pasha. The holy place, he said, should be protected at all costs and no cost should be considered too great.

Mr. Ismail Rokadia, Khan Bahadur Shaik Ali Bakza, Maulana Erfan and Mohmed Yusuf Abdulla Fauzar then spoke, and urged Muslims to unite and give a handsome contribution to the deputation consistent with the great name of Islam.

Mufti Syed Amin Al Hussani and Mohmedali Pasha than spoke in Arabic, and said the Muslim organisations of Palestine had contributed a lakh of pounds towards the building fund. If eight million Muslims of India were to contribute one rupee each, he would get easily eight million rupees. Of course, he did not include Muslim rulers such as Nizam and others, as he thought they would contribute according to their exalted positions.

WILL MUSLIM'S RISE TO OCCASION.

He hoped the Muslims in India would rise to the occasion and contribute their mite towards the foundation of an institution which will be a cultural institution of world repute.

The chairman appealed Maulana Shakat Ali to take a lead in influencing Muslim public to contribute their mite just as he did for Khilafat Fund a few years ago.

The members of deputation were then garlanded.

COMMUNAL FRACAS IN KARACHI

KARACHI, July 7.

Twelve persons have been injured as a result of a Hindu-Muslim fracas in the heart of the city. It is alleged that trouble originated in an Arya Samaj procession playing music, in front of a mosque on the Outram Road, near Lambert Market at prayer time.

It is stated that three Muslims coming from the mosque asked that the music should cease. The music was not immediately stopped but ceased a hundred yards further on.

Meanwhile, it is reported, one Muslim attacked with a knife an Arya Samaj volunteer, whose companion struck the Muslim assailant with a lathi.

A melee ensued resulting in injuries to twelve, mostly Hindus. Police hastened to the scene and brought the situation under control. Police pickets are patrolling the affected area.—A.P.

FEDERATION AND STATES' PLEOPLES

(Contisued from page 10.)

Princes cannot represent their people so long as they are autocratic.

The system of nomination is unknown to any Federal Constitution now functioning in the world and more especially to popular chambers. The sovereignty of the Princes had nothing to do with this question of sending representatives to the Federal Houses. By the very fact of joining the federation the Princes are supposed to surrender their sovereignty to the Federal Government about Federal matters.

PREPOSTEROUS CLAIM

It is the duty of the Federal Government and all the units collectively to prescribe the mode of selection of their representatives to the Federal Houses. The Princes set up a claim that it is their right to send the representatives to the Federal Legislature in any manner they like, and that they should not be fettered in their discretion. This was an unconstitutional and preposturous claim.

It is a matter of regret that many of the prominent British Indian delegates such as Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and others acquiesced in this demand. It was a blunder on their part and the Princes are now exploiting the same. These prominent British Indian statesmen wanted to rope in the Princes at any cost into the Federal scheme. They thought that once the Princes were within the federation things would adjust themselves.

A BLUNDER

The Princes are past masters in the art of intrigue and British Indians are now finding that they are over-reached. It must be said to the credit of Mr. Joshi, Dr. Ambedkar and Chaudhari Zafferullah that they stoutly opposed the claim of the Princes to select their representatives according to their discretion. They strongly maintained that the method of selecting representatives to the Federation was a concern of all the units and not of the States alone.

The British element in the R. T. C. kept silent over this matter. It is ridiculous to suppose that brought up in the democratic traditions of their own parliamentary institutions they were unable to understand the baneful effects of nomination in a federation; but they had a definite purpose in keeping quiet and giving their consent by their studied silence to the impudent claim of the Princes.

REAL OBJECT

The British element made it clear at the outset of the Conference that unless the Princes joined the federation they were not prepared to give their sanction to the scheme of Federation and to the demand of central responsibility. The obvious reason given was that the Princes represented stable and conservative element in the country, and without their presence it would not be safe to grant dominion status to India at a time when complete independence was freely preached in the country. But the real object of insisting on the presence of the Princes in the Federal organisation was to secure a sure support to maintain the interests of the British Government even under the future constitution.

AKOLA MILL STRIKE SCENE

Police Charge Women Picketers

D. C. SAVES SITUATION

Union Standing Out For Reinstatement Of All Strikers

From the Secretary, G. K. U. Red Flag Union.

AKOLA, July 6.

Yesterday, women workers took command and gave a spectacular demonstration of their strength, with the result that mills were closed down completely.

Not even the Manager or the Mill-owner was allowed to get in.

A strong Police posse armed with lathies appeared on the scene. The D. S. P. warned Mr. Jayawant to remove the pickets, which he refused to do.

Meanwhile, Mr. Mama Saheb Joglekar, of the five Panchas elected by citizens, with a view to bring about a settlement, requested Mr. Jayanant and Mr. Sapre to create a favourable atmosphere for bringing about an immediate settlement, which Mr. Joglekar hoped, was rapidly approaching.

This was put before the women strikes who agreed and left the field for holding a mass meeting.

But the terms of settlement advocated by the Panchas did not arrive till 10 a.m. The meeting was, therefore, adjourned till the evening. In the afternoon, the terms were discussed by the Panchas and the Union.

The Union was adamant on the issue of the Re-instatement of all strikers, and was prepared to compromise on all other issues. But the Panchas could not agree to it, and hence, the mass meeting in the evening rejected the Panchas' proposals.

Subsequently, when the situation took a turn for the worse, the police charged the women strikers with lathies.

But the discretion of Mr. Rau, Dy. Commissioner, who ordered a prompt "ground arms," saved the situation.

WHITHER, OH BRITISHERS?

From Chatham And Burke To MacDonald And Butler!

From B. F. Bharucha.

Friends,—You are no doubt a lover of your own Poet Burns. Will you just call to mind his famous lines?

"O, wad some power
The giftie give us,
To see ourselves, as ithers see us.'

Will you just try this introspection? Or will you let me tell you, what we think of you to-day?

Didn't you come here as Traders?

You came to India, hats in hand, to trade with us. What was England then?

(1) Was it a first-class, Power? No.

(2) Was it a fully manufacturing country? No.

(3) Was it a rich country? No.

(4) Was it more advanced than India in Education, Agriculture, Manufacture, Fine Arts or self-defence? No.

(5) Was not India ahead of England in all these directions, when you first landed in India? Yes.

Is not England Enriched Chiefly by India's Trade and Connection?

(1) Are not your Factories built from the profits of your Indian Trade?

(2) Are they not fed and maintained by your preferential trade with India?

(3) Is not your Colonial Empire built principally by India's men, India's money, India's soldiers and India's materials?

(4) Has not England attained her present position as a First Class Power, with a huge Army, Navy and Aircraft—chiefly from the profits of Indian Trade, etc.

(5) Has not India stood by England and her Allies in their grave hour of trial?

Is not India Impoverished and Enslaved?

Now tell us plainly:—

(1) Is not India impoverished? Is she not bled white? Is she not squeezed even to-day?

(2) Is she not disarmed, unarmed and almost enslaved?

(3) Agriculturally, educationally, culturally, is not India poorer to-day, than in 1606?

(4) The Railways, the Post and the Telegraph, the Telephone and the Wireless, the Motor and the Bus, they cannot and do not enrich a country.

(5) And pray, haven't you practically killed India's Ship-building trade? And Indian Shipping too?

Just Turn to Your Own History.

(1) Take the Magna Charta, which the Barons of Britain forced King John to sign on 15-6-1215. Was Fitzwalter, who led the Barons on the day, arrested and imprisoned subsequently? No.

(2) Take your own King Charles the I. Did not the people send him to the gallows? Was Cromwell petted or condemned?

(3) Take Hampden. He refused to pay an iniquitous tax. Haven't you lionised him ever since?

(4) Turn to Warren Hastings. He was accused of detaining the Begums of Oudh and of easing them of their monies. Just for that, you impeached the old man and subjected to him a protracted trial, which hastened his end.

Just Turn to India and Reflect on Present Situation.

(1) Where is that brilliancy and buoyancy of Burke, the sparkling oratory of Sheridan and the fiery spirit of Fox, who impeached were Warren Hastings?

(2) Are not more heinous acts committed in the Punjab during the martial law days?

(3) Do not the misdeeds of Clive pale into insignificance, as compared to the issue of ordinances in peace time, of wholesale lathi charges, wholesale arrests; and incarceration of thousands of patriots for non-violent actions?

(4) Is this the Reward of India's War services?

(5) Is this the translation of your solemn pledges for self-determination for India?

Revise your Policy or Lose India!

When your Forefathers came to India, their policy was "Live and let live"—But, your present policy is:—"We flourish, no matter, if you (Indians) perish." ! ! ! If that was not so, why do you want safeguards? Are not your interests more than sufficiently guarded? Why do you want to retard the progress of 300 million people, for the sweet comfort and convenience of a few lacs?

Before it is too late: before you further embitter Indians, revise your Policy. Macs and Butlers can't be your Protectors, and Saviours! Win India's goodwill. That will be your best shield. Join hands with Indians against Japanese dumping and bureaucratic bungling. Stop the flight of gold; and sitting at a real R.T.C., with Gandhiji settle the programme of Anglo-Indian Entente. That way lies the true peace of India and the East. Will you act?

NEW BUYING AND COVERING IN NEW YORK

Optimism Over Progress Of Acreage Reduction

BRITAIN LIKELY TO FOLLOW AMERICA ON PRICE RAISING PROGRAMME

Rains In Texas Offset Bv Drop In Dollar

Bombay, July 7.

On Thursday the New York cotton futures market early declined on favourable weather but rallied later on covering by Shorts and buying on the reaction theory. Favourable new regarding the London Economic conference together with further drop in dollar induced new speculative buying and reports of beneficial rains over Texas have had no effect on prices.

It is said that the progress of the acreage reduction plan continues favourably and the official acreage report which is likely to show an increase of about 8 per cent under cotton cultivation on July 1st will have no material effect on cotton prices. However if the official findings are higher than the average expectation, there may be a temporary decline in prices which will be a good opportunity to buy.

SENTIMENT BULLISH.

There is no doubt that the U. S. A. Government is firm in their determination of raising commodity prices in the States and latest cables state that even Britain is also likely to follow particularly in this respect. The general sentiment continues bullish and higher prices are confidently expected eventually. The most important factor at the moment which requires attention is that there exists a large long interest in almost every market and with a view to maintain healthy state there may be sharp declines on long liquidation. In several cases prices in America have advanced by about 75 to 100 per cent as compared with those ruling in last February and at this high level the swing of the pendulum must also be wide. This means there may be wider price movements with erratic and violent fluctuations

NEW YORK COTTON.

The New York market opened at a rise of 2 points but prices declined 9 points from the opening level on long liquidation influenced by reports of rains over the Western Belt. This was the lowest level of the day as better political news from London and further decline in dollar induced large buying which continued throughout the day. There was fresh speculative buying and shorts were covering. Cotton prices are keeping firm. There are constant fears of further inflationary measures. The market closed strong at a rise of 25 to 22 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 25 points at 10.50c.

NEW ORLEANS MARKET.

The New Orleans cotton futures market was firm and closed at a rise of 23 to 24 points. Spot cotton prices advanced 22 points at 10.39c.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.

The Liverpool cotton futures market opened quiet at a decline of 4 to 6 points. There was scattered buying on the decline. Later on disappointing New York advices there was straddle and stop-loss selling. The market closed quiet but steady at a decline of 10 to 11 points. Middling American spot cotton prices declined 17 points to 6.37d. per lb.

INDIAN COTTON.

Indian cotton futures ruled quiet and closed at a decline of 10 points with October 5.35 and January 5.42.

EGYPTIAN COTTON.

Egyptian cotton futures market was quiet but steady and both Uppers and Sakels closed at a loss of 6 points.

ALEXANDRIA MARKET.

The Alexandria cotton futures market was quiet on easier New York advices and closed at a decline of 13 to 9 points.

TRADE EXPANDS.

Messrs. Thos. Smith and Co., State:—

Some rains in small areas in the West offset by the continued reports of increased trade expansion. The continuance of the W. E. Conference is also favourably viewed and a better understanding over the monetary standard is anticipated shortly.

President Roosevelt in his statement to the W. E. C. urges that apart from stabilisation there are other great problems deserving exploration. The first task is to restore prices to the level at which industry and agriculture can function profitably and efficiently.

We continue to adhere to our opinion and advise purchases on any setbacks.

PRIVATE CABLES.

New York July 5—December highest 10.92 (10 a.m.) lowest 10-50 (2-36 p.m.)

New York, July 6—October highest 10.65 plus 27 at 2-56 p.m. lowest 10-31—07 at 11-20 a.m.

New York December highest 10-82 (2.57 p.m.) lowest 10-43 (11-22 a.m.).

Messrs. Sarupchand Prithiraj have received the following cables:—

Liverpool.—The weekly weather report is colourless; market affected unfavourably by less favourable political outlook; the course of the market is very uncertain.

New York.—Drought relieved small areas; further Dollar depreciation is expected.

New York—Liquidation by Longs absorbed by renewed speculative buying—orders and Shorts covering stimulated by decline in Dollar—and strength in other markets.

Messrs. Patel Brothers have received the following cables:—

Their Liverpool Agents cabled as under:—

Dated 5th:—New York market declined on prediction of break-up of drought and uncertainty of acreage Reduction Plan.

Dated 5th:—Their New York friends cabled as under:

"Market nervous owing probably London breakdown, also reports varying degree of success Acreage reduction although latter probably partly propaganda. While immediate future uncertain early resumption upward trend probable."

Their Liverpool Agents cabled on 6th inst.

9-35 a.m.:—Light rains Abilene Dist. (North Texas) Shreveport Dist. (Louisiana). Storm reported to be headed for lower border of Texas Gulf Coast on Thursday.

12-30 p.m.:—Between midnight and daylight light to moderate rainfall New Orleans Dist. Weather cooler.

9-51 p.m.:—New York cables: Weekly Government Weather Report unfavourable, too dry in the West.

Good rains in parts of Western belt where needed, offset by decline in Dollar and shorts covering on decision to continue the Conference.

Saturday's Acreage Report expected to be bearish but Acreage Reduction Plan prospects improving.

Messrs. Chunilal Mehta and Co. We have received to-day the following cable information from their Foreign Friends:—

Liverpool. Speculative buying Sterling industrial stocks and commodities continues on expectation Britain will decide follow America some extent on price raising programme.

Liverpool. Weekly weather generally favourable. Texas Oklahoma withstanding drought well but good rains would be beneficial over entire belt.

New York. Market early declined on liquidation and some hedging. Since turned strong owing to considerable new buying and shorts covering caused by strength other markets and fear of inflation. Cotton goods market—yarn market—firm prices.

New York. Renewed strength on foreign exchanges, optimism over progress acreage reduction and continued advance grains stocks.

Messrs. Thos. Smith and Co. have received the following cables from Liverpool:—

1. "Although we expect higher prices all commodities eventually likely to see violent fluctuations."

2. Increase in acreage probably 8 per cent. but no account will be taken of acreage to be voluntarily abandoned. Will have little effect unless extreme either way."

Messrs. Breul & Co. have received the following cable from Messrs. Reynolds & Gibson their Liverpool friends D/ 5-7-33 (5.41 p.m.)

Though think not far from inflation level aimed at and advance depending now more on Cotton factors still believe these remain Bullish and advise purchase on declines

Bombay Cotton

Bombay, July 7.

In sympathy with sharp rebound in New York cotton futures, the local market was expected to open at Rs. 213 for Broach J.|A. and Rs. 233 for Broach A.M. delivery but the market opened quiet rupee one below the expected prices.

There was some nervous selling and bears were trying to depress prices, it being Indore Settlement Day and prices declined to Rs. 231|4 for new Broach crop

INFLATIONARY MOVE.

At the level there was general buying. It is reported that like the U.S.A. there is move in Great Britain to raise commodity prices and our currency being linked with sterling, prices in this country are also expected to move upward. One big firm was a buyer to the extent of about ten thousand bales and prices steadily advanced to Rs. 233.

BEARS SELLING.

But for the reason mentioned above, local Bear operators who have a large stake in tejimandi operations of Punam Settlement, they came forward with selling orders and prices declined to Rs. 232.

LARGE SHIPMENTS.

Apart from other considerations, such as inflationary programme in England, prices of Indian Cotton are very attractive. Germany and other continental countries are large buyers of our cotton. Their purchases have become so extensive that shippers find it difficult to secure freight. Under these conditions we believe it is very risky to sell short in the local market.

Liverpool market was due to open at a rise of 10 points but opened steady at a rise of 5 points.

SCATTERED LONG LIQUIDATION

Bombay, July 7.

To-day being the second day of settlement the share bazaar remained open for trading for one hour only.

The progress of the monsoon is unsatisfactory and there deficit of rains in several districts. The monsoon commenced late and so far there is considerable irregularity of rainfall. Face Peeling At Home

Any woman nowadays may quickly rejuvenate her complexion at home by a safe and painless process of gentle absorption. The days of expensive and dangerous "operations" are past, and each woman can be her own beauty doctor. It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, applied like cold cream at night, will cause the thin veil of lifeless, sallow or blotchy cuticle to gradually and gently flake off in invisible, flour-like particles, revealing the fresh, vigorous and beautiful young skin underneath. The wax absorbs only the unhealthy and unsightly outer film, and does not affect the healthy tissue at all.

The process defies detection, and unveils a lasting and beautiful complexion, which is, of course, a perfectly natural one. For this purpose thousands of women are now using mercolized wax, which may be obtained at any chemist's. Naturally, the process also removes all such surface blemishes as freckles, blotches, pimples, tan, liver spots, etc. It makes the face look years younger and prettier, and renders the use of face creams unnecessary.

COTTON BUREAU REPORT FORECAST

EXPECTED INCREASE OF 7.5 PER CENT.

Feeble Response By Growers To Call For Restriction Of Cultivation

(By Our Cotton Market Expert.)

The Crop Reporting Board of the U. S. A. Agriculture Department will issue to-day the first Bureau Report on acreage under cotton cultivation in the United States of America. This report will be issued at Washington at 11 a.m.

Both New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges will close before the release of the report but the Chicago Cotton Market will re-open after the receipt of the report to have full effect on cotton prices.

This report will be received in Bombay at about 9-40 p.m. on Saturday, after the receipt of New York cotton closing prices.

Everybody Interested.

World cotton prices are guided by the production of cotton over the American Cotton Belt and every person interested in the cotton trade from a cotton grower to a cotton millowner is interested in this report. This Cotton Belt constitutes only about 3 per cent of the land area of the World, it contains about 53 per cent of the world's cotton acreage and produces about 57 per cent of the world's supply of cotton.

Abnormal depression in American trade and drastic decline in commodity prices induced the present administration to throw of Gold Standard with a view to raise prices and improve the industry of that country. Several inflationary measures are adopted and the whole country is behind the present administration.

So far it has succeeded in raising prices by about 75 per cent to 100 per cent. There is a determined effort on the part of the U. S. A. Government to raise prices and thus improve the internal economic condition of the country.

Roosevelt's Powers.

Armed with extensive powers, President Roosevelt made a personal appeal to cotton growers to reduce promptly the area under cotton cultivation by maximum 50 per cent and minimum 25 per cent with an offer of compensation for the area abandoned and option of taking actual cotton from the Government owned stocks which are roughly estimated to be about 2-1/2 million bales.

Not Reliable Guide.

So far reports received about the reduction of acreage under the Government scheme are conflicting and the response from cotton growers is reported to be feeble. At any rate the result of this campaign is not to be included in the acreage report which is due to be published on Saturday.

Thus the official report will in no way prove a reliable guide to the ultimate yield and its value as a market factor will be of no material influence

Increase 7.5 p.c.

However when such a report is to be issued, according to the information available, it appears that total area under cultivation on July 1st will show an increase of 7.5 per cent as compared with last year's acreage.

The outlook of the American cotton crop is fairly satisfactory and the total yield looks like 13-1/2 million bales based on the acreage of 7.5 per cent.

15 YEARS' STATISTICS

For a comparative study the following table showing acreage and yield will be helpful:—

Limited Demand For Yarn

LARGE STOCKS OF HANDLOOM CLOTH

Bombay, July 5.

As a result of very steady prices of raw material during the past week our market has also remained steady and prices have fluctuated within a very narrow range. Inspite of the firm undertone in the prices of raw material, prices in yarns have not been showing any inclination for a material advance in the near future probably because the demand from almost all consuming districts continues to remain limited and only for small lots just sufficient for the immediate requirements of the buyers. It is difficult to understand even yet why there has been no satisfactory improvement in the demand in any of the consuming districts, and several reasons have been assigned for the same. The most important reason is stated to be that the stocks of the Handloom cloth are yet very large and have not been moving satisfactorily owing to the very keen competition the Handloom cloth has got to meet from the Japanese and Indian Mill Cloth. The Handloom weavers are not able to stand in competition and naturally therefore it does not pay them to make purchases of yarns at the present level of prices and to get even living wages. In the circumstances actual demand from the consumers for all kinds of yarns continues to remain slack inspite of the continued firmness in the prices of the raw material. Besides this, even speculative enquiries and buying have been only of a limited nature so far as the yarns are concerned probably because some of the speculative dealers have already burnt their fingers during the last several occasions when prices of yarns were speculatively shot up in anticipation of improvement in demand from the consuming districts as a result of sharp rise in cotton prices. Besides this, local dealers and up-country merchants have been eagerly watching the course of the monsoon in all consuming districts and it is difficult to forecast anything about it at the present mouent. Whilst in some places the start has been very favourable. In others the start has been very poor. It is believel that if the Monsoon turns out satisfactory all over the country in all probability there will be improvement in demand for yarns. The World Economic Conference in London has made very poor progress so far and the future outlook seems to be rather uncertain. The erratic movements in Foreign Exchanges all over the world have also been affecting very unfavourably the movement in yarns in as much as some of the people in the Yarn Trade have no confidence in the present level of prices. In the circumstances it is put natural that Big Operators prefer to remain aloof at the moment and wait and watch further developments so long as such as uncertainty continues all over the world. The future course of the market therefore remains uncertain, and whilst prices are more or less dependent upon the fluctuations in cotton prices in the next few days, the future outlook does not seem to be very hopeful so long as the demand from the consuming centres does not show material improvement.

ENGLISH YARNS.

Prices have improved to some extent in sympathy with the recent rise in cotton, but owing to keen Japanese and Shanghai competition it is rather difficult to find sales in the Indian markets No fresh forward business of importance has therefore been possible

JAPANESE YARNS.

Prices have remained steady with a limited turnover in this class of yarns. Fresh forward business has been difficult on account of slightly higher prices quoted by the Import Houses in sympathy with the firm cotton prices. Stocks are sufficient to meet the present limited demand from the consuming centres. Exchange has remained steady and Sampin have improved in sympathy with rise in cotton.

ART SILK YARNS.

The Bombay Rayon Committee have been reported to be closely watching the movement of Art Silk yarns in almost all consuming districts of India and have been trying their utmost to satisfy the present demand for Standard Beniers. Arrivals of Japanese Art Silk yarns have been recently showing an increase and it is believed that there will be still further increase in arrivals from Japan during the next few days. Demand on the other hand continues to remain moderate and reports have been received from all consuming districts that most of their immediate needs have been now satisfied. The Punjab markets are less active than before whereas the Southern markets have been sending good reports as yet. Demand for Miscellaneous Deniers continues to remain poor. Syndicate prices remain unchanged except an advance of half anna per lb. in twofold yarns. The undertone remains steady.

INDIAN YARNS.

Our Mills find it increasingly difficult to meet the buyers in their present idea of prices which is too low to admit any important business. Stocks with the Mills have slightly increased and they have been waiting for improvement in prices. Fresh sales therefore during the week are very small The future course of the market is uncertain.

CALL MONEY AGAIN EASY AT 1-2 PER CENT

Government Repays Rs. 3/- Crores Against Ways And Means

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEWS

(From Our Special Correspondent)

BOMBAY, July 7.

MONEY.

After a temporary steadiness at the turn of the half year's end, the money market was easy with call funds unlendable even at 1-2 to 3-4 per cent. The repayment of about Rs. 4-1-2 crores for unconverted portion of 4 p.c. 1931-36 bonds was probably responsible for the present condition. Furthermore trade demand generally is very slack as the latest statement of the Imperial Bank of India shows a fall of Rs. 162.85 lakhs. Out of Rs. 1,-65,00,000 Treasury Bills' tenders offered Government accepted Rs. 1,05,00,000 at the average rate of Rs. 1-2-11 per annum. In addition, however, Government sold Intermediate three months' bills to the extent of Rs. 1,24,50,000 at Rs. 99-12-0 per cent. Maturities during this week amount to the comparatively small figure of Rs. 64,25,000. Government have repaid Rs. 3 crores against "Ways and Means advances, reducing the outstanding figure under the head to Rs. 1 crore only.

The following are the fixed deposit rates:—One month 1-1|4 p.c. two to three months 1-1|4 p.c. six months 1-1|2 p.c.

The statement of the Imperial Bank of India as on 30th June, 1933, shows an increase of Rs. 176.30 lakhs in the cash balance of the Bank now standing at Rs. 23,07,77,000 as compared with Rs. 21.67 crores at this time last year. The percentage of cash to liabilities is 28.19, an increase of 2.37 per cent. on the week. Loans, Cash Credits and Inland Bills discounted are down by Rs. 2.48 lakhs, Rs. 21.62 lakhs and Rs. 81.20 lakhs respectively. Government deposits have declined by Rs. 197.70 lakhs to Rs. 5.83 crores, while other deposits have risen by Rs. 59.64 lakhs to Rs. 73.58 crores. The Bank rate stands unchanged at 3-1|2 p.c.

IMPERIAL BANK.

A steady undertone characterised the Gilt-edged market with a general recovery in prices, although 3-1|2 per cent. paper did not rise proportionately. Were it not for the weakness in India sterling price in London this market might have shown further advances in quotations. Cheap money and investment buying on moderate scale account for the strength. There was a further rise in 5 p.c. Loan 1945|55 which advanced to Rs. 112 at the close. 3-1|2 p.c. 1947|50 Loan improved to Rs. 92 at the close. 4 p.c. 1960|70 loan after improving to Rs. 96-6 eased off to Rs. 96-2, while 4 p.c. 1943 loan showed a steady rise closing at Rs. 100-10-4 p.c. 1934-37 loan closed Rs. 101-8-4. 1-2 p.c. 1955-60 loan Rs. 101-9 to Rs. 102-8. 5 p.c. 1939|44 loan was steady throughout the week closing at Rs. 104-11. 5 p.c. 1940-43 loan similarly showed a rise to Rs. 104-14 at the close. 5-1-2 p.c. 1938|40 remained in the vicinity of Rs. 106-11. 6-1-2 p.c. Bombay Development was unchanged till mid-week but showed a little improvement to Rs. 107-3 at the close, while 6-1-2 p.c. Treasury Bonds were in demand throughout the week closing at Rs. 106-12.

EXCHANGE.

The sterling exchange market ruled quite steady particularly for forward deliveries, the near position remaining dull and inactive. Fresh business for the export of gold for forward deliveries as well as the appearance of some bills in connection with merchandise exports account for the relative strength in the forward market. Cheap money on the other hand is responsible for a quiet tone for ready and near position. Sellers of ready T.T. quoted at 1/6-1/32 with buyers at 1/6-3/32 and business was occasionally placed at 1/6-1/16. The following are the forward rates:—July to December 1/16 1/32.

The dollars sterling quotation after opening at 4.26 closed at 4.56-1-2. The Paris-London rate after opening at 86.15 declined and closed at 85.15. The Belga is quoted at 23.86 and the Italian lira at 62.68.

PRESS COMMUNIQUES.

GOLD.

Prices in the gold market tended to rise and the undertone appears steady. Buying by banks for export and by local bull operators accounts for the strength. Arrivals from up-country are fair sized and since the amounts of export contracts are for forward deliveries ready gold was quoted at a discount of 1-4 to 1-2 anna under forward. The price of ready was quoted at Rs. 30-13-0 at the close. The stocks on hand amount to about 4 lakhs and the offtake remains unchanged at about 4,000 tolas. In London the quotation for gold after opening at 123sh. declined to 122-4-1|2d. in mid-week but improved and closed at 124-1d. The price of sovereigns in our market moved in sympathy with gold and is quoted at Rs. 19-13-0 for ready and Rs. 19-12-3 for forward. Last week's shipment of gold per s.s. "President Adams", amounted to Rs. 42,330 and per s.s. "Kaiser-i-Hind" to Rs. 78.44 78.44 lakhs. In our market the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 30/13/0 and Rs. 30/6/9 for ready and July 8, settlement and Rs. 30/13/3 and Rs. 30/6/9 for August 7, settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 102.101 in bar and coin.

SILVER.

Owing to uncertainty prevailing at the World Economic Conference the principal silver markets remained dull with comparatively small price changes. In the local market business was restricted and quotation for ready varied between Rs. 56/15 and 57/4 per 100 tolas. The premium on forward narrowed to about 5 annas owing to general disbelief now in the reduction of import duty on silver in India. The average daily offtake continued at 20 bars with stocks still heavy amounting to about 10,000 bars. In Shanghai the dollar improved from 1/3-1/8 to 1/3-1/4 but eased off to 1/3-1/16 at the close. In London the highest and lowest rates during the week were 18-7/8 and 18-3/8 for ready and 19 and 18-5/8 for forward. In our market the highest and lowest rates were Rs. 57/4 and Rs. 56/15 for ready, Rs. 57/4 and Rs. 57 for July 12, settlement and Rs. 57/11 and Rs. 57/6 for August 10, settlement. The total imports during the week amounted to Rs. 12,808 in coin.

SHARES.

The stock market ruled steady with a fair turn over although there was no advance in prices particularly in the Mill group. Profit-taking largely accounted for the fall in prices towards the close. The following are the fluctuations in some of the leaders:—

Bombay Dyeing Rs. 818/12, 808/12; Century Rs. 252/8, 250; Central India Rs. 343-2, 339/6; Crescent Rs. 70, 70/10, 68/2; Fazulbhoy Rs. 368/2, 375, 367/8; Kohinior Rs. 178/12, 179/6, 173/2; New Great Rs. 192/8, 193/12, 185/10; Pearls Rs. 243/12, 246/4, 238/12; Simplex Rs. 96/4, 96/14, 95; and Swadeshi Rs. 275, 285. 283/12.

In the miscellaneous section comparatively firmer conditions obtained especially the Tata Iron and Steel group. Tata Iron Ordys and Defds advanced from Rs. 54/8 to Rs. 57 and from Rs. 225 to Rs. 230 respectively. Tata Hydros after opening at Rs. 155 declined to Rs. 154/11 at the close, while Tata Powers maintained last week's level at Rs. 975 Andhra Valleys advanced from Rs. 1395 to Rs. 1410 closing at Rs. 1406/4, and alcocks shares gained Rs. 5 to Rs. 180 at the close. Bombay Burma shares slightly depreciated to Rs. 336/4 while the Bombay Trams improved to Rs. 140. Bombay Steams also rose to Rs. 290 from Rs. 285. Bundi Cement shares were quoted at Rs. 24/10 and Indian Cement at Rs. 275. Katni ordys remained almost unchanged at Rs. 286/14 with Defd shares at Rs. 1065. In Railway shares there were no changes in prices.

Imperial Banks shares improved from Rs. 1195 to Rs. 1205 and contributories from Rs. 288/12 to Rs. 290. Bank of India shares stood unchanged at Rs. 103 and those of the Central Bank at Rs. 22.

BOYCOTT WILL RETARD SETTLEMENT

East India Cotton Association Urge Upon Japanese To Revoke Resolution And Strengthen Hands Of Negotiators

BOMBAY, July 6.

The following statement has been issued by the Board of the East Indian Cotton Association, Limited, in reply to a statement dated June 29, issued by the Japan Cotton Spinners' Association, Osaka:—

"The reply of your Association to this Association's telegram, dated 23rd June, 1933, has received the careful consideration of the Board of Directors of this Association and they appreciate the difficulties to which you refer therein, and also your Association's past efforts in increasing and maintaining Indo-Japanese cotton trade for the last 35 years.

In order to ensure that the trade relations between the two countries may continue as hitherto, they have decided upon addressing a communication to the Government of India in the matter.

They, however, apprehend that your Association's resolution boycotting the use of Indian cotton may provoke retaliatory sentiments in the minds of the Indian masses, who may seriously consider the question of boycotting not only Japanese textiles, but also other goods made in Japan.

They hope that your Association will, in the mutual interest of both India and Japan, immediately take steps to rescind its resolution, and thereby help the Board in their efforts to bring about a solution of the problem which may culminate in mutual benefits to both the countries. They wish to bring to notice the fact that the Indian populace is behind the Indian growers of coton, and any harm done to them will react on the existing trade relations between the two countries.

SAFEGUARD COTTON GROWERS

The following resolution has been passed to-day by the Board of the East India Cotton Association, Limited:—

"The Board of Directors of the East India Cotton Association, Limited, realise the imperative necessity of drawing the immediate attention of the Government of India to the fact that the recent boycott of Indian cotton by the Japan Cotton Spinners' Association has resulted in the depreciation of the value of Indian cotton to the extent of Rs. 15 more or less, per candy, and beg to point out that if immediate and effective steps are not adopted by Government to arrest the decline caused by the boycott, there is every probability of the interests of the grower of cotton being jeopardised to a greater extent than now, when the new crop will commence to move three months later.

The Board, therefore, beg to urge upon the Government of India that they should take immediate action in the matter in order to saftguard the interests of the grower of Indian Cotton against the prejudicial effects of the boycott."—A.P.

DISPUTE OVER RATES

Strike May Lead To Closing Of All Ahmedabad Textile Mills

AHMEDABAD, July 7.

Local mills are threatened with a strike of drawers and as a sequel to the threatened closing down of mills, the representatives of the Drawers' Association approached the Millowners' Association asking for uniform rates in all the mills.

It appears that after two days' discussion no settlement was reached, and the drawers are contemplating to go on strike, after giving eight days' notice. If the drawers go on strike, all the mills will have to be closed down. —A. P.

WHITE PAPER INQUEST

Lords And Commons Approve Scheme To Expedite Proceedings

(SPECIAL CABLE.)

LONDON, July 6.

The House of Lords has agreed to the motion empowering the Select Committee to appoint one or more Sub-Committees to take evidence.

Evidence taken in a Sub-Committee will be deemed to be the evidence taken before the Select Committee.

Moving the resolution, Lord Linlithgow pointed out that certain subjects could receive more appropriate treatment by a small body than by the whole Committee.

Great care would be taken to ensure that no work was permitted to be done by any sub-committee which ought to be undertaken by the whole Committee, and the full Committee would decide subjects to be submitted to a sub-committee.

Lord Onslow said that while the motion created a precedent, he thought that it was desirable in this case. It was his intention to publish daily reports of the sub-committees' proceedings.

UNHAPPY KASHGAR

1000 Rebel Troops Arrive From Yarkand

NEW CITY IN PANIC

But Chinese Still Hold Country North Of Tientsham

SIMLA, July 7.

Latest reports from Kashgar says a communique show that about one thousand rebel troops under tan leaders, arrived in Kashgar one Janib Beg, one of the Kho- from Yarkand recently.

The relations between the new arrival and other rebel leaders at Kashgar are reported to be strained and further trouble is expected. The position of the Chinese and the Tungans in the Kashgar New City appears to be insecure.

According to latest reports from Kuchar it appears that the Chinese still hold the country, north of Tiensham—one Khoja Niaz Haji, a Turki leader, holds Hami, Turfan and Kuchang, while the Tungans are set in a precarious hold on Karashahr, but are threatened by Turkis, who have turned against them and disarmed all the Tungans between Bugur and Utchturfan, including Kuchar and Aksu.

On arrival, Sarikol, a new Turki Amban, is reported to have shot his Chinese predecessor, his wife and several other Chinese.—A. P.

U. S Shoves On Responsibility For Breakdown On Gold Bloc: Powers Decide To Keep Show Going

(SPECIAL CABLE.)

LONDON, July 6.

The credit for saving the World Economic Conference from complete annihilation has been given to Mr. Hull, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Bennet.

The meeting of the Bureau opened in a frigid atmosphere with the Gold Bloc resolution for adjournment.

An impassioned plea was made by Mr. Hull pointing out that delegates had not even scratched the surface of the agenda, but were diverted by stabilisation, which was not even on the agenda.

Mr. Hull cleverly checked off subjects on the agenda which the Gold Bloc said they could not discuss, thereby throwing the blame off Mr. Roosevelt's shoulders to the Gold Bloc

NO REAL WORK POSSIBLE

Stabilisation Issue In Cold Storage

(Special Cable.)

LONDON, July 6

The Gold Bloc are defeated for the time being, but the real situation remains unchanged, since stabilisation has been placed in cold storage.

It is obviously impossible for the monetary side to do any useful work in view of the Gold Bloc's abstention, while important Sub-Commissions like the Tariffs and Subsidies cannot function owing to Gold countries insistence on their futility until stabilisation is agreed to.

The meeting of such subcommissions will be a pure formality.

The only work possible will be in connection with commodities like silver, timber, wine and sugar.

Business circles interested in these commodities naturally do not minimise, the importance of them, but within a few days, it is unlikely that anything but the skeleton will remain of the great World Economic Conference.

AIR LINER'S CRASH

Authorities Unable To Account For Fate Of City Of Liverpool

(Special Cable.)

LONDON, July 7.

No explanation of the cause of the crash of the Imperial Airways Liner "City of Liverpool" at Bizmude on March 28 with 14 fatalities can be given, according to reports of technical inquiries by Belgian authorities and the Air Ministry.

It is impossible to determine the origin of the fire which appears, was confined to the fuselage. None of the engines failed the fuel-tanks did not burst and did not leak, and all precautions were fully observed.

The Secretary of State was satisfied that nothing could be gained by further inquiry.

RESTORE PRICE LEVEL

U. S. Points Out Major Issues Before Powers

RUGBY July 6.

The Bureau of the World Monetary and Economic Conference met privately this morning to consider the future of the Conference, in view of the situation created by United States' attitude towards the question of temporary stabilisation.

The Bureau consists of delegates representing Argentine, the United Kingdom, Canada, China, Czechoslovakia, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, the United States and Russia.

Last night the critical position which had arisen was the subject of constant consultations between delegates. The United States delegation was in frequent telephonic communication with Washington and later the statement addressed to the Secretary General of the League was, issued by the American Delegation.

U. S. STATEMENT.

This reiterates the American policy on temporary stabilisation made last Saturday. The statement reasserts: "The first task is to restore prices to the level at which industry, and above all agriculture can function profitably and efficiently.

The second task is to preserve stability, when adjustment has been once achieved. The part, which gold and silver should play after the adjustment has been secured, would seem the further subject suitable for consideration by the Conference. We, conceive, therefore, that great problems, which justify the assembling of nations, are as present to-day and as deserving of exploration as was the case a few weeks ago, and we find it difficult to conceive that position, which it has been our obvious duty to take on the minor issue of temporary stabilisation, can in any way diminish the effect of such discussion.—B. ANTI-AUSTRIAN BROADCAST

VIENNA, July 6.

A broadcast attack on Austria was made from the Bavaria wireless station last night by the Nazi envoy Herr Habicht resulted in the Austrian Minister in Berlin being instructed to make a protest which is directed not only against Herr Habicht's speech but also against further anti-Austrian broadcasts.—Reuter.

BRITISH PRESS CYNICAL

LONDON, July 7.

Press comments on the World Economic Conference decision are generally somewhat cynical but the "Times" expresses the opinion that there is no reason why non-Gold countries, whose joint interest in international trade is more than double that of Gold Standard countries, should lose the opportunity of reaching agreements to promote trade revival, and suggests that future discussions at the Conference might be for the present among groups of countries naturally drawn together by geographical situation or trading interests, for example, it would be a greatest waste of a precious opportunity, if the British Empire representatives did not take dvantage of the present meeting to consolidate industrial, commercial and agricultural co-operation.—Reuter.

BANDRA'S WAR AGAINST BUTTER ADULTERATORS

Proposed Licensing Of Trade As In Bombay Municipality

(From Our Correspondent).

BANDRA, July 5.

At yesterday's Board meeting Mr. J. R. Michael drew the attention of the Health Officer and Committee to the vigorous steps against butter-adulterators in Bombay by the Bombay Corporation as a result of the campaign initiated by "The Bombay Chronicle". He was afraid that Bandra would now be made the dumping ground of adulterated butter and desired that the Health Officer should take steps for its prevention.

Dr. Dias had previously moved that Government be requested to insert in the Municipal Act a new section on the lines of Section 412-(A) of the City of Bombay Municipal Act.

In moving the resolution Dr. Dias referred to the report of the Health Officer regarding the control of milk supply of Bandra. He opined that if a new section were inserted in the Municipal Act licensing the trade as was prevalent in Bombay, Bandra would be assured of better and pure milk.

Replying to Mr. Michael, Dr. Dias stated that prevention of selling of adulterated butter was also provided for in the new section.

The proposition was unanimously carried.

London.—Sir Eric Drummond, late Secretary General to the League of Nations, has been appointed Ambassador in Rome in succession to Ronald Graham, who is shortly retiring.—Reuter.

EXPEDITING EVIDENCE

LONDON, July 6.

In the House of Commons, Sir Samuel Hoare moving a similar resolution adopted by the House of Lords said that some work of the Select Committee might be effectively done by Sub-Committees.

He emphasised that the main committee would retain full control of proceedings of sub-committees which would have to report to the Main Committee. Evidence would be published in the same way as if taken by the full Committee. There was nothing more in the proposal than a request that the Select Committee be given power to appoint sub-committees in the interests of speed and efficiency.

Indian witnesses who did not wish to remain in England longer than necessary, he thought, could expedite their arrangements under the proposed procedure without in any way undermining efficiency. The Select Committee motion was adopted without division.

The motion was not discussed. —Reuter.

SIMLA SUGAR CONFERENCE

Is Legislation Necessary For Better Regulation Of Industry?

SIMLA, July 7.

The following is the official list of subject to be discussed at the Sugar Conference which commences on Monday, July 10:—

(1) To consider whether having regard to the present demand for sugar in India and its possibe expansion in future present rate of development of sugar industry is satisfactory, excessive or inadequate.

(2) To consider whether sugarcane growers or sugar manufactures are unduly benefited at the expense of consumer and whether benefits of protection granted to industry are being fairly distributed between the different interests.

(3) To consider whether for the interests of sound development of sugarcane cultivation and of sugar manufacturing industry, it is desirable and practicable to regulate the relations between sugarcane growers and sugar manufacturers, whether by zoning, licensing of factories, fixation of cane prices or other means.

(4) To consider whether legislation is necessary for better regulation of Indian sugar industry and if so, to what extent such legislation should be central and to what extent provincial.—A. P.

Ruth Whitehead Whaley, the first negro woman licensed to practise law in North Carolina, was sworn in at Goldsboro on May 30 by Judge F. A. Daniels. She is a native of Goldsboro but studied law in New York and practises there. She was granted a license in North Carolina by reciprocity.

COMMERCIAL SAFEGUARDS

Union Of Britain And India Urge Retention

LONDON, July 6.

The following is the concluding portion of the report of the evidence given by the Union of Britain and India before the Select Committee:—

The Union favoured the retention of commercial safeguards.

Sir Alfred Watson expressed the opinion that the outcry against it would be small, and referred in this connection to the Coastal Bill which was an outstanding example of the attempt at commercail discrimination. "I am bound to say as a European that Indians have a case for a large share of coastal shipping. Although I was strongly opposed to the Bill because it savoured of expropriation, I recognise that one Indian company after another has been financially shattered by the heavy combination of British interests. Those interests must be prepared in future for a real partnership, and shoud admit Indians to at least a share of the coastal trade."

Lord Irwin suggested that an agreement was recently reached between the Scindia and British India Companies.

Sir A. Watson believed that it was correct.

RESERVATION OF C. I. D.

Questions were asked about the proposed reservation of C.I.D. to the Governor-General.

Witnesses did not approve of complete reservation, and expressed the opinion that the work of ordinary C.I.D. should be in the hands of the Minister, but the work of the special branch dealing with terrorism should be reserved to the Governor of Bengal and other provinces if an occasion arose. Emphasis was laid in this connection on the vital necessity of secrecy.

Sir A. Watson was of opinion that if the special branch dealing with terrorism was put in the hands of the Minister, it would dissolve within a week. "Therefore we suggest that the special branch should be the responsibility of the Governor."

Documents should go directly to the Governor and other documents to the Minister, and the separation of documents should be the work of the Inspector-General. He added that if documents went to the Minister, his life would be worth a short purchase.

Lord Derby asked if the Inspector-General might be an Indian.

Mr. Villiers replied that it would depend on the character of the individual and added that if an officer had shown sufficient efficiency to become Inspector-General, he might be trusted to preserve confidence.

Lord Derby exclaimed: "That gives me the answer I wanted."

PROVINCES MUST FIND MONEY.

Dealing with the financial problem, Mr. Villiers suggested that the reform scheme would not operate until sufficient money was forthcoming, thereby putting the onus on Provinces. He thought that Local Governments would be able to devise means of taxation hitherto untapped.

Lord Burham asked if Mr. Villiers was thinking of a permanent settlement.

Mr. Villiers replied, "To a certain extent, yes." He was aware of the opposition of Zamindars, but it was certain that whereas Indians might have a chance of revising the settlement it was impossible for the British.

Lord Brabourne responding to his health proposed by the Raja of Khallikote said that the kindness shown by Indian friends in London filled him with confidence for the future.

Patnaik, Ramaswami Mudaliar, Shafat Ahmad Khan, Begum Shah Navaz, Sir Purshotamdas Thakurdas, Lady Cowasji Jehangir, Sir Stewart Patterson, Lady Evelyn Patrick, Chaudry Zafrulla Khan and Mr. M. R.
